TWO PRINCES ARE TO VISIT VICTORIA

MAYOR RIGHT BEHIND COLD STORAGE PLAN

Insists Project Would Bring Greater Prosperity to Port of Victoria

People Here Have Opportunity to Prove Faith

"I am wholeheartedly behind the by-law which it is proposed to submit to the electors on July 14 and which, if passed, will bring to Victoria a cold storage plant," declared Mayor J. Carl Penderay this morning.

"The city of Victoria has gone to much expense in hiring an expert, Roger D. Pinneo, to advise us as to the possibilities of port development.

"Mr. Pinneo considered the logical port for a cold storage terminal, I agree with him."

"The success of this enterprise," the Mayor went on, "does not depend solely on the advantages of location, but largely upon financial arrangements and management. These two essentials have been guaranteed."

PLENTY OF CAPITAL

"The cost of the plant," stated Mayor Penderay, "will be $500,000, leaving a working capital of $200,000 which should be ample for all requirements. I would like to point out, however, that Victoria is not guaranteeing $500,000 worth of bonds but only that the interest will be paid in the event of the company failing to make a profit. The city's liability is thus confined to $35,000 a year for ten years at the very outside. My candid opinion is that the cold storage plant will be a success from the very commencement."

Cold storage investments all over Canada had been put up in the last few years, Mayor Penderay stated, and not one of them had yet proved a failure. Halifax was at present spending millions on a new plant of this kind in the province of Nova Scotia, he said. It would have nothing like the agricultural or fish field from which to draw for its supplies.

"For years we have been talking industry and port development," Mayor Penderay declared, "and the council has spent time and money trying to improve the industrial situation here. It is now the people's opportunity. They must decide whether they wish to take the first step in the advancement of our great industrial possibilities."

CONVENTION OF RAIL ENGINEERS IS COSTLY

Estimated Meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, Eats up $30,000 a Day

Cleveland, Ohio, July 6.—The action of the Canadian Government in taking over the railways which now comprise the Canadian National Railways has prompted the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers with one of its biggest labor problems, officials said today at the triennial convention of the Brotherhood here.

The seniority rights of engineers produce a delicate problem in cases of mergers. While in such instances the organization usually has a precedent to rely upon, the nationalization of the Canadian roads was far different and offered the organization problem it had never had to face before, one official said.

The Canadian problem is under consideration at the convention, which has opened on its fifth week. The sessions are likely to last through a sixth week or longer.

Officials estimate the convention is costing the Brotherhood about $30,000 a day in expenses.

DETROIT BOYS ON VISIT TO B.C.

George E. Buchanan Party of Forty-one on Way to Alaska

Vancouver, July 6.—George E. Buchanan of Detroit, Mich., organizer of the "On to Alaska with Buchanan" party, is a visitor here today, accompanied by a party of forty-one boys from different parts of the United States and Canada.

This is the fourth trip Mr. Buchanan made to Alaska. The first was in 1922, when he took forty-six boys; in 1925 he took seventy-one, and in 1926 he took fifty boys.

Any boy who wishes to take the trip has to earn one-third the cost. The parents of the boy contribute one-third and Mr. Buchanan pays one-third.

"However," said Mr. Buchanan, "I do not pay it outright. I advance it to the boy with the understanding that when he grows older he will pay it back, so I may take another boy to Alaska."

DELEGATES SEEKING TO BRIDGE GAPS AT NAVAL CONFERENCE

Spokesmen of Britain, U.S. and Japan at Geneva Wrestle With Cruiser Problem

Numbers of Small Warcraft For Nations Now Chief Issue at Meeting

Geneva, July 6.—The British, United States and Japanese plenipotentiaries at the Three-Power Naval Conference here met privately this evening in an endeavor to solve the crisis at the conference.

It is stated the British criticized the United States delegates for what they regarded as their failure properly to recognize Great Britain's reasonable requirements.

According to all accounts, Hugh S. Gibson insisted the United States did not wish to do an injustice to Great Britain, but the United States delegates saw little chance of the Senate ratifying a treaty which would bring cruiser strength up to the neighborhood of 600,000 tons and prove a bait for increased instead of decreased naval construction.

The Japanese are plainly worried over the situation. The private conversations are continuing.

ANIMATED DISCUSSION

Geneva, July 6.—Private meetings today between Hugh S. Gibson, United States delegate, and Viscount Izumi, of Japan, and later between Mr. Gibson and Lord Cecil, British delegate, failed to improve the existing critical situation confronting the Three-Power Naval Conference here.

Lord Cecil and Admiral Sir Frederick Field of Great Britain and Rear-Admiral Hilary P. Jones of the United States were present at the British-United States talks, which, according to reliable reports, was rather lively.

BRITISH RAIL MEN FIGHT STRIKE BILL

Use Constitutional Methods Against Conservative Trades Union Measure

Carlisle, Eng., July 6 (Canadian Press Cable).—While wholeheartedly condemning the Government's Trade Union Bill, designed to curb illegal strikes and lockouts throughout Great Britain, the National Union of Railwaymen, in conference here, decided today by a large majority vote to accept the advice of Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, general secretary of the union, to follow a strictly constitutional course and ignore those members of the union who were urging industrial action to upset the Baldwin Government.

Mr. Thomas said he had not met any large employer of labor who was in favor of the bill.

TWO B.C. MEN HOPE TO FLY THE ATLANTIC

Vancouverite and New Westminster Offer to Make Ontario-London Jump

Vancouver, July 6.—F. H. Turner is the second Vancouver aviator who put in an application to make the proposed London, Ontario, to London, England, non-stop aeroplane flight, it was announced today. S. A. Mowat, of New Westminster, was the first.

Turner, who served two years in the flying corps overseas during the World War, has hired the promoters of the flight he wishes to make the trip alone. He will meet with Mayor Louis D. Taylor of Vancouver today to discuss the possibility of his offer being backed by the city. New Westminster has already responded the application of Pilot Mowat.

Major D. R. McLaren, president of the Air Force Club of British Columbia, has announced the club would be behind any sound project for a flight from Canada to England.

A brewing company whose stock is held chiefly in London, Ontario, offered a prize of $25,000 for a non-stop flight from London to London. As advertised, it was not to be a contest or a race. The crew was to be selected and the company was to provide a Fokker, Wright, Bellanca or other aeroplane of approved design.

Chairman Hanna of the Ontario Liquor Control Board, entered the discussion, pointing out to the company that the new Ontario liquor law forbade advertising by liquor firms in this province. This led to a change in the scheme. The city authorities of London, Ontario, were approached with a request that the City Council sponsor the flight. A number of aviators met in the Ontario city yesterday and discussed plans for the flight.

That to-day is the stage of the preparations for the venture.

DALLAS-HONGKONG AEROPLANE FLIGHT IS HIS AMBITION

LIEUT. TOM HARDIN

Of Dallas, Texas, is preparing to attempt an aeroplane flight from that city to Hongkong, China, in 144 hours to win a $25,000 prize offered by William Eastwood Jr. Three stops are allowed on the trip. Lieut. Herbert Kindred of Dallas is to be Hardin's companion.

MAN TAKES LIFE AT MENTAL HOME

Inmate of Wilkinson Road Institution Hangs Self With Bedclothes

John Ashley, forty-seven, an inmate of the Wilkinson Road Mental Home, took his own life yesterday. For more than three years Ashley had been an inmate of the place, having been taken there as a homicidal maniac. He had shown inclination to take his life prior to his last desperate act.

When the attendant was making his regular rounds yesterday morning, Ashley was aroused and excited. He shouted and tore at the bars of the door. The warden bade him be quiet and continued his rounds. Approximately ten minutes later at 6:15 o'clock when the warden passed Ashley's quarters all was silent there and he peered in. The man was hanging by a piece of twisted bedding, attached to the walls.

At the inquest this morning, Dr. George Hall testified as to having examined the man on being summoned to the asylum. He had then pronounced him sane and sane in mind. The jury after brief deliberation brought in a verdict of suicide while mentally deranged.

Four Men Stealing Ride on Train Were Injured in Wreck

Saskatoon, July 6.—Four men are in the hospital at Davidson, Sask., having been injured in a wreck on the Canadian National Railway line a mile, and a half south of Davidson at 9 o'clock this morning. The injured men, who were said to be trespassers, were riding on a car of ties. They are: A. Hammar, leg hurt; A. Fitz, leg bruised; K. Hamman, leg, hand and head hurt; and R. Uper, head and body injured and leg broken.

A heavy freight train bound for Saskatoon was rounding the Squaw Creek bend and half of the cars had made the turn when about ten cars became uncoupled and left the track, piling up in the ditch.

The exact cause of the derailment has not been learned.

FOREST FIRE LOOK-OUT IS PUT ON TEXADA ISLAND

Vancouver, July 6.—With sixty-five unimportant forest fires reported since the Summer opened, and with weather conditions favorable forestry officials in this district are hopeful July and August will pass without serious outbreaks.

A new fire look-out is being established on the 1,800-foot peak of Pocatontas Mountain, which is about seven miles south of Vancouver, on Texada Island. On clear days the range will see from Lund to the mouth of Jervis Inlet, including Haslam, Powell and Gordon, Pasha Lakes, and to the west from Campbell River, Vancouver Island, to Wellington. A large mountain blocks his view to the south. Telephone connection with Vancouver has been installed.

WOMAN WHO FASTED FIFTY-FIVE DAYS IS ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

Toronto, July 6.—After fasting fifty-five days here in an effort to cure indigestion, an experiment that brought her to death's door, Mrs. Hope Leontough has taken a turn for the better. Her examining physician believes the woman has an excellent chance for recovery.

MOTION OF CENSURE OF MINISTRY BEFORE BRITISH COMMONS

MacDonald, Labor Leader, Says House of Lords Reform Scheme Big Mistake

London, July 6.—Ramsay MacDonald, British Labor leader, today moved his scheduled motion of censure on the Baldwin Government in the House of Commons on the Government's scheme for reform of the House of Lords.

In the presence of a crowded house which showed the most intense interest, Mr. MacDonald expressed his regret that the Government had put forward a scheme for fundamental changes in the House of Lords without obtaining a mandate from the people.

His motion, which was framed last week, declared the Government's reform scheme, "jerry-manders the constitution in the interests of the Conservative Party," deprives the House of Commons of the control of finance, entrenches the Lords on a hereditary basis and takes from the electors the power to deal with the Upper House."

Mr. MacDonald declared the Government's proposals would seriously curtail the privileges of the House of Commons, make fundamental alterations in the structure of the constitution and entrench upon the royal prerogative.

HEREDITARY PRINCIPLE

The proposals, he charged, would change the political temper of the country seriously for the worse by giving ascendancy over the Commons to a House of Lords firmly based on the hereditary principle, which was to be enshrined in the constitution.

"Whoever is in power," he said, "the Tories are to be in power."

The Government, he said, was proposing with a temporary majority to make permanent changes without any attempt to get national agreement upon them. It was not revolution, he did not know what it was. Never had a constitutional proposal been made with less justification.

He termed it a mere partisan move. Baldwin's ATTITUDE

Premier Baldwin, replying, said there could be no question of the House of Lords becoming a really serious rival of the Commons. There could be no power there to make or unmake ministers, nor equal rights in financial matters. Dealing with the elective principle, he said, it was exceptionally plausible on first sight but an elected Upper House would immediately become a rival of the Commons, and to that the Government was opposed. The powers of elected chambers must tend to become equal, even if the upper chamber did not eventually become the stronger, as the Senate in the United States, he said.

The Premier pointed out that no reform scheme ever brought forward had entirely left out the hereditary element.

Head of Oblate Order Now Visiting the Terminal City

Vancouver, July 6.—Archbishop Donatien, head of the Oblate Fathers, arrived from Seattle this morning on a visit to members of the order here. He is on a world tour.

He was the first Archbishop of Vancouver and a hundred old-time members to his former diocese. Archbishop Donatien was about eighteen years ago elected head of the Oblate Order, with headquarters in Rome.

A gathering of the Oblate Fathers, who held in New Westminster tomorrow morning, when the Archbishop will be tendered a reception and there will be a conference on the work of the order in British Columbia.

200 HERE BRING EAST'S MESSAGE OF GOOD WILL

New Outlook Party Greeted in Victoria by United Church Leaders

Travel by Confederation Train; Big Dinner To-night

Carrying a message of good fellowship from the dwellers in the East to those in the West, the "New Outlook" party of 199 members of the United Church of Canada in the East, who traveled West by the Canadian Pacific special train, arrived in Victoria from Vancouver this afternoon.

The members of the party, who represent every part of Eastern Canada and Newfoundland, were met at the docks here by a welcoming committee of the United Church of Canada under the Rev. J. P. Westman of Centennial and Dr. W. J. Sippell of the Metropolitan United Church.

The party reached Vancouver this morning and were greeted there by a committee under Rev. J. D. Hodson and Dr. W. H. Smith, representing the Vancouver Presbytery.

As representatives of various church bodies in Eastern Canada, the group left Toronto under the supervision of Dr. S. W. Falls of the United Church Publishing House. It has visited cities all the way across the prairies and will spend the remainder of the week on the Coast, between Victoria and Vancouver.

Dr. Falls was painfully injured in a motor accident on the Windermere Highway early this week and had to be taken to hospital at Banff.

DINNER TO-NIGHT

This afternoon the party started out around the city, and visits to Beacon Hill Park, Government House, Butchart's Gardens and the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory. Parliament Buildings, Provincial Museum, Library and Archives and seeing the downtown part of the city.

The party will sail from Victoria tomorrow to be entertained Thursday at term and a reception to be given by the Hon. J. A. Macdonald, Chief Justice and Administrator of the Province.

Thursday morning the party will be entertained at a luncheon at the Hotel Vancouver. The party will be entertained at a luncheon at the Hotel Vancouver.

ENGINEER'S FAILURE CAUSE OF DISASTER

Four Passengers Were Killed in Train Crash on Shore of Hudson River

Tona Island Station, N.Y., July 6.—Failure of the engineer of a New York, Ontario and Western express to obey a signal set against an open switch was held by the railroad today as the cause of a rear-end crash with a switched freight train, which resulted in the deaths of four persons and the injury of twenty-three.

Eight were seriously injured and fifteen less seriously hurt.

Hospital authorities said at least one and as many as four of the injured might die, as all four were unconscious for hours after the accident, which occurred just before midnight on the shore of the Hudson River near Tona Island Station, about forty-two miles from New York.

HOLIDAY PASSENGERS

With 300 passengers homeward bound from holiday trips, the express roared through the open switch and crashed into the rear of the "switcher." Those killed were riding in a passenger coach which was telescoped into the baggage car ahead. Others throughout the train were injured when they were thrown from their seats or hit by flying glass.

Several of the injured, pinned firmly beneath the wreckage, were chopped out. An elderly woman, whose jaw had been broken and who was unconscious, was lifted through a window after rescue men cut off her shoes by which she was held in the debris.

Lord Willingdon Is in Fredericton

Fredericton, N.B., July 6.—The first official visit by Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General of Canada, to New Brunswick was paid today when he and Lady Willingdon and members of their staff arrived in Fredericton.

The Governor-General was received with cheers as he stepped from his car and the chimes of St. Charles Church Cathedral, a few yards away, played the National Anthem.

Upon the platform of the station Lord Willingdon was received by the representatives of the province and the city.

A. H. FINLAY JOINS UNIVERSITY STAFF

Becomes Assistant Professor of Civil Engineering in B.C. Institution

Vancouver, July 6.—Capt. A. H. Finlay, formerly of the 72nd Seaforth Highlanders, has been appointed assistant professor of civil engineering at the University of British Columbia. On his return from overseas Capt. Finlay entered the department of applied science at the University of British Columbia and graduated in 1924 with the degree of B.A.Sc.

It was while he was taking his university course that he co-operated with Bernard McEvoy in writing a record of the overseas activities of his battalion, of which he had been intelligence officer.

After leaving the university, Capt. Finlay engaged in the practice of engineering in Canada and the United States, and has since then received the degree of Master of Science from the University of Illinois.

FRENCH SCIENTIST MAKES TRANSMUTATION CLAIM

Paris, July 6.—Professor Jolivet, French scientist, claims to have solved the problem of the ages—the transmutation of silver and other base metals into gold. He says he has succeeded in getting twenty milligrammes of gold from a mixture of other metals, including six grammes of silver. He believes that, considering the cost of the agents employed, the process will have great industrial value.

VICTORIA WILL GREET HEIR TO THRONE

Prince of Wales and Prince George, His Youngest Brother, to Travel West to This Coast After Tour of Eastern Canada in August; Also Will Visit Vancouver; Premier Baldwin Will Not Come West to British Columbia

MAYOR RESIGNED AND IS RE-ELECTED WITHOUT CONTEST

Halifax, July 6.—Joseph B. Kenny, who resigned during his second term as mayor of Halifax when his veto was overridden at a recent council meeting, has been returned by acclamation. He was the only candidate to enter yesterday when nominations were being received for a civic by-election on July 13.

Victoria will have the Prince of Wales and Prince George, his youngest brother, as visitors this Summer. This became known when a dispatch from Ottawa today gave the information that the tour in Canada of the two members of the royal family, which will start when, in company with Premier Baldwin they land from their ship at Quebec July 23, will include visits in the capital of British Columbia and Vancouver.

Premier Baldwin will not come West.

ROBERT SMITH DIED IN VANCOUVER TO-DAY

Son of B.C.'s Only Woman M.P.P. Was Prominent Barrister in Terminal City

Vancouver, July 6.—Robert Smith, barrister, son of Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, M.P.P., died this morning at the Bute Street Hospital here.

Although little hope had been held out for his recovery, he fought gallantly to the last, but a complication of liver troubles which affected his heart proved fatal. The receding years of his profession, was well liked by his fellow practitioners and was respected by the judges.

FATHER CABINET MINISTER

The son of prominent Liberals, Mr. Smith was an active and faithful Liberal worker. His father, the late Hon. Ralph Smith, was Minister of Finance, in the Government of British Columbia in 1916; and for seven years prior to his death, the receding years of his profession, was well liked by his fellow practitioners and was respected by the judges.

BORN IN ENGLAND

Born at Newcastle-on-Tyne, Eng., January 31, 1885, Robert Smith was a very young lad emigrated with his parents to Canada, the family settling at Victoria.

Grace Again to Attempt Flight Across Pacific

Man, Island of Kauai, T.H., July 6.—The Cruiser, the aeroplane in which Richard Grace, Hollywood motion picture stunt flier, crashed Monday morning just after he had taken off here for a flight to California, will be shipped immediately to Pearl Harbor to be rebuilt.

Edson B. Koger, Grace's mechanic, said it was hoped to have the plane ready within three weeks to make another attempt to hop off.

LEVINE PLANS TO FLY ACROSS ATLANTIC

Man Who Accompanied Chamberlin Looks For French Pilot For Westward Trip

Paris, July 6.—Charles A. Levine, who accompanied Clarence D. Chamberlin on his aeroplane flight from New York to Germany, intends to fly back to New York as soon as he can find a French pilot to go with him. He made this declaration at a luncheon given today by British and United States newspaper correspondents here.

Levine said Chamberlin, because of other engagements, would not be able to pilot him back to the United States. He said the name of the pilot to be designated would be made public within a few days.

FEW PUBLIC EVENTS

Ottawa, July 6.—There will be few actual public engagements during the visit of the Prince of Wales in Canada this summer, from what can be learned at present. Premier Stanley Baldwin probably will carry the chief burden of public appearances. During the Prince's three-day stay in Ottawa, only Wednesday, August 3, will be taken up with official duties.

At noon on that day the Prince will unveil the Altar of Sacrifice in the memorial Chamber of the Victory Tower. Later he will unveil the statue of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, recently erected on Parliament Hill, and then visit the International Foultry Congress while it is in session.

Premier Baldwin will address the Canadian Clubs in Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto.

While in Ottawa both the Prince and the Premier's parties will be guests at Government House.

In Ottawa, Mrs. Baldwin will address the Women's United States MAY VISIT UNITED STATES

Although no official confirmation can be secured, it is regarded as quite likely the Prince of Wales will visit the United States after stopping at his ranch at High River, Alberta.

It is known he will pay official calls at Victoria and Vancouver.

After leaving Ottawa the two parties will go to Brockville, Ontario, where they will go aboard a private yacht and cruise through the Thousand Islands to Kingston, where there will be an hour's reception. Then they will proceed by boat to Toronto. In Toronto there will be a state dinner as well as a Canadian Club luncheon, probably on Saturday, and on Sunday the party will make an informal trip to Niagara Falls. Afterwards the visitors will start for Banff, Alberta.

Premier's PROGRAMME

After leaving the Prince in Alberta, Premier Baldwin will start back, making one-hour stops in Calgary and Regina, with a somewhat longer stay in Winnipeg. From Manitoba, the Premier will move right through to St. John, New Brunswick, where there will be an official reception.

In Halifax, a Canadian hometown there will be further receptions and on August 18 Mr. Baldwin will sail for home.

From High River the Prince's plans are uncertain, largely depending upon his own wishes regarding the length of his stay. In any event some programme of official stops in Western Canadian cities will be worked out for the trip east.

SNOW FALLS IN BUENOS AYRES

Unusual Spectacle in Northern Argentina; Steamship Sinks; Crew Rescued

Buenos Ayres, July 6.—A violent snow and rain storm was lashing this city and a great part of this country today. In some sections of the provinces of Buenos Ayres, Santa Fe, Cordoba and Mendoza the fall of snow has reached unusual proportions, presenting a sight seldom seen in this country.

The Bolivian steamship Presidentes Saavedra sank in Buenos Ayres Harbor as a consequence of the storm. The twenty-two men of the crew were rescued.

Atlantic City, N.J., July 6.—Nearly a block of the boardwalk here between Missouri and Arkansas Avenues, was used yesterday in one of the most disastrous fires in years in Atlantic City. Three firemen were overcome and more than 500 persons were made homeless. Discovered shortly after 3 o'clock in the Boardwalk Restaurant, the flames rapidly spread, aided by a stiff breeze, and a general alarm was sounded. Firemen battled the blaze three hours. Eight hotels and rooming houses sent vacationists scurrying to the street.

ISLAND BERRIES SHOW FIFTY PER CENT INCREASE

First Official Crop Estimate For Province Forecasts Big Gains in Output Here

Fruit Crop Generally Shows Decline; Okanagan Figures Down 25 Per Cent

Vancouver Island's strawberry crop will total 60,000 crates this year as against 40,314 crates last year or a gain of fifty per cent, according to the official fruit crop estimate released at the Department of Agriculture to-day, after reports had been received from all districts and compiled by experts. These figures include the production of the Gulf Islands.

Island loganberries will increase from 2,382 crates to 2,500 crates, the figures show, but raspberries will decline to 2,500 crates from 3,491 crates. Blackberries show a gain from 1,768 crates to 2,000 crates.

MORE FOR JAM
For manufacturing purposes the Island will provide 205 tons of strawberries, thirty-nine tons of raspberries, 377 tons of loganberries and twenty tons of blackberries, the estimate states.

APPLES INCREASE
Other items in the Island's total fruit production are estimated as follows: Apples, 45,000 boxes, as against 32,640 boxes last year; crabapples, 1,000 as against 840; pears, 5,000, as against 4,456; plums and prunes, 2,000, as against 1,385; cherries, 4,500, as against 6,123; gooseberries, 500 crates, as against 468; black currants, 750, as against 796; red currants, 400, as against 430; rhubarb, 8,000, as against 7,282; and forced rhubarb, 15,000 pounds, as against 14,195 pounds.

MAINLAND OUTPUT DROPS
These gains in the Island crop are in striking contrast to general reductions predicted in the fruit production of the Mainland. The Okanagan crop, providing the largest part of the Province's total fruit output, shows an average decline of about twenty-five per cent from last year, but growers expect to make up for this drop by gains in prices.

The Okanagan apple crop is estimated at 2,679,507 boxes; crabapples at 126,350; pears, 96,500, and plums and prunes, 231,944. Similar relative reductions are shown in the estimates of production for the Creston and Grand Forks fruit production.

Japanese Killed in Logging Accident

Port Alberni, July 6.—Three Japanese were seriously injured, one dying on the trip up to the hospital as a result of an accident at Canoe Pass on Barkley Sound. While moving a donkey a tree was being used as an anchor, and it fell on the crew. Sasaki and another workman had a number of ribs broken and other bruises, and Geshiro Okugawa died of injuries before arriving at the hospital.

DR. GOWEN GIVES SECOND LECTURE

Judaism Dealt With in Series on "Christianity as Universal Religion"

Dr. H. H. Gowen, D.D., delivered at the Memorial Hall last night, the second of his series of lectures on "Christianity as the Universal Religion," dealing particularly with Judaism.

The lectures are under the auspices of the Anglican Summer school.

Dr. Gowen pointed out that the Jews were geographically in touch with the great power of their time, and acted as middlemen in trade and literature between the Asiatic and western people. Thereby they imbibed much of the religion of these races.

He then spoke of the Jewish faith, showing how Judaism prepared the way for Christianity by introducing the idea of one God, a higher standard of morals, and later, a broader concept of humanity. The lecturer briefly traced the course of Judaism from the Patriarchal period with its primitive ideas of right and wrong. Early in this period, the Hebrews believed in a life after death in which the good and brave would be rewarded for their deeds on this earth. At this stage, the

Dr. Gowen pointed out that the Jews were geographically in touch with the great power of their time, and acted as middlemen in trade and literature between the Asiatic and western people. Thereby they imbibed much of the religion of these races.

He then spoke of the Jewish faith, showing how Judaism prepared the way for Christianity by introducing the idea of one God, a higher standard of morals, and later, a broader concept of humanity. The lecturer briefly traced the course of Judaism from the Patriarchal period with its primitive ideas of right and wrong. Early in this period, the Hebrews believed in a life after death in which the good and brave would be rewarded for their deeds on this earth. At this stage, the

CANADA'S NOBLE CHURCH HISTORY

Ven. Archdeacon Davidson Delivered Interesting Address Last Night at Memorial Hall

Canada has a noble and romantic church history, Ven. Archdeacon Davidson pointed out in the first of a series of lectures on "Canadian Church History," at the Memorial Hall last night.

The speaker stated that the first duty of the church in America was to look after the spiritual welfare of the colonists from the Motherland. He traced the growth of the church from the time Cabot landed and prayed on North American soil in 1497, up to the consecration of Canada's first bishop in 1787.

The first missionary work attempted by the English in America was carried out under a bequest of £100, donated by Sir Walter Raleigh to the colony of Virginia. In 1603, Rev. Hunt put the colonies under the diocese of the Bishop of London. But despite the fact that the Bishop of London had commissaries to fulfill his business functions in America, the colonists wished to have their own bishops. Unfortunately forty per cent of the candidates who left the New England States to be ordained in London, lost their lives on the journey to or from that city. Hence the colonists thought it imperative to have their own bishops to perform the necessary rites of ordination. But it was not till after the year of independence that they obtained this privilege.

Maryland was the most progressive colony in missionary work. In that state, the Rev. Thomas Bray had, in 1696, founded the S.P.C.K. and in 1701 the S.P.G. These societies worked so diligently that in 1702 they maintained seventy-seven pastors among whom was John Wesley, who resided in Georgia for two years.

With the success of the War of Independence, the Americans objected to the Oath of Allegiance to the King, which was required of all bishops. After some difficulty they obtained episcopacy from the Bishop of Exeter in 1784, and episcopacy according to the Anglican rite in 1792.

Archdeacon Davidson then dealt with church progress in Canada proper, briefly describing the differences between the New Englanders and the French, until the capture of Quebec. For some time after this the people of Canada were overwhelmingly Roman Catholic. Three events helped to equalize the population: the establishing of the English colony at Halifax, the expulsion of the Acadians, and the coming of the United Empire Loyalists.

In Canada too, there was a desire for a bishop of their own. Hence the idea of getting one, an idea first suggested to them by the States, persisted, until in 1787 the Rev. Charles Inglis was consecrated Bishop of Nova Scotia.

In closing, the lecturer paid a high tribute to our first Canadian bishop, a United Empire Loyalist, who had left behind fame and fortune in order to remain a true British subject.

COOK WAGE RULING WILL FORCE CHANGE

Employees Must be Paid Full Day's Wage Working or Not, Court Decides

British Columbia lumbermen and loggers are concerned over the recent ruling of the Appeal Court, under which they must pay a minimum wage of forty cents an hour to their cook-house employees for all the time they are on the job, even though these men work only part of that time.

Thus if a cookhouse employee starts work at 7 o'clock in the morning and is introduced to the one God-to-them, he is entitled to pay for twelve hours even though he may have been free and not working for several hours during the period. This is the official interpretation of the new ruling.

As the board administering the minimum wage law never intended to enforce payment for non-working hours, the new ruling will require some readjustment in the present system of employing men in logging camps. Probably it will be necessary for employers to specify the precise hours when cooks and others must work, thus providing them with definite time off during the day when there is no work to be done around cookhouses.

DR. GOWEN GIVES SECOND LECTURE

Judaism Dealt With in Series on "Christianity as Universal Religion"

Dr. H. H. Gowen, D.D., delivered at the Memorial Hall last night, the second of his series of lectures on "Christianity as the Universal Religion," dealing particularly with Judaism.

The lectures are under the auspices of the Anglican Summer school.

Dr. Gowen pointed out that the Jews were geographically in touch with the great power of their time, and acted as middlemen in trade and literature between the Asiatic and western people. Thereby they imbibed much of the religion of these races.

He then spoke of the Jewish faith, showing how Judaism prepared the way for Christianity by introducing the idea of one God, a higher standard of morals, and later, a broader concept of humanity. Jews placed much faith in their prophets and eccentric priests.

The next upward step was taken by them under the leadership of Moses who introduced the one God-to-them. A God who demanded higher moral conduct from his people. With this came a new conception of holiness.

At this time, due to the strife among their enemies, the Israelites were able to build up a nation, and nationalism became very pronounced in their religion.

As they progressed they laid aside the old Patriarchal system, and took away from the idea of an after life, and encouraged them to live righteously for the benefit they would thereby derive in this world. This period was marked by the interest taken in the individual. Hitherto, if one sinned, all the family was punished for his crime. But with this new idea only the person directly responsible was reprimanded or rewarded for his deed. But, in the book of Job, we find the story of an upright man punished for no fault of his own. So, through instances like that, the people justified God's work on this earth by expecting compensation in a happier state after death.

The lecturer closed his address by showing how, in Judaism, all spiritual

COUGAR KILLED AT ROCKY POINT

Brought to Book After Doing $200 Damage Amongst Sheep Raisers

After tracking for two hours a party of six hunters killed a cougar eight feet in length at Rocky Point last night. It weighed over 100 pounds dressed.

The farmers were first notified of the animal, which has been in the district for a considerable time, when the remains of a sheep were found on the beach. A party was quickly organized, and after hunting around about two hours a sheep dog picked up the scent of the cougar, and he was found in a thick salal right in the middle of a flock of sheep. The dog soon roused him from his sleeping place, and after fifteen minutes of chasing the panther was tired and then shot.

Two of the party who related the story this morning stated the animal has been responsible for about $200 worth of damage. One of the farmer's sons found two dead deer recently, which is also attributed to the cougar.

The party hunting the cougar last night was composed of the following: Two Parker boys, two Thornett boys, Thornton and Dogart.

VANDERBILT HEIRESS WEDS MAN OF HER CHOICE; TO HONEYMOON IN B.C.

New York, July 6.—Without the attendance of her parents, and without their knowledge or formal consent, Miss Grace Vanderbilt, only daughter of Brigadier-General and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, was married in the Municipal Building at New York recently to Henry Cassaway Davis 3rd, grandson and namesake of the late Senator Davis, and an heir to the large estates in West Virginia controlled by his family.

The young man and woman whose marriage unites independent fortunes and some day may bring together many more millions earned by their ancestors in pioneer days, had about given up hope of receiving the blessing of the bride's parents before departing on a honeymoon trip to British Columbia.

While friends of the Vanderbilts could not believe that Gen. and Mrs. Vanderbilt, whose marriage many years ago was disapproved by the bridegroom's father, would now refuse to give their blessing to their daughter and son-in-law, they remained silent until after the civil ceremony at the Marriage License Bureau. Mrs. Davis notified her parents of her marriage and expressed her presence at the church ceremony, The New York World says.

In her note she told her parents where she could be reached by telephone as late as 9 o'clock, but, although she said her husband waited at the appointed place—the apartment of her brother, Cornelius Jr.—until nearly 10, no word came from the paternal home at No. 640 Fifth Avenue.

Col. Henry Howell Armstrong, uncle and business associate of the bridegroom, was best man at the ceremony at the Municipal Building, which was performed by Deputy City Clerk J. McCormick.

No other relatives or friends were present. Patrolman Patrick Kelly, attached to the bureau, was drafted as the second witness.

Patrolman Kelly, who was formally introduced to the prospective bride and bridegroom by Col. Armstrong, was enthusiastic in his descriptions to reporters later.

"You don't see many like them around here. I helped them—when they told me they might be remarried at a church. I told them to get a duplicate license, and they did."

Close friends of Miss Vanderbilt have known that a wedding, or at least, the announcements of an engagement, to young Davis was to be expected. They met in Washington, where Davis spent a considerable time with his mother, Mrs. Armstrong Davis, in the last two years. She is twenty-seven; he is twenty-five. He returned recently from a trip to the mining interests with which his uncle is identified, and had been staying at his apartment on Park Avenue.

He is a handsome, clean-cut young man, a mining engineer by profession, and an amateur golfer of some fame. He is studious in manner and is now taking a post-graduate course in engineering at Columbia, which he expects to continue next term.

All this information, a young woman seemingly more interested in intellectual pursuits than in the social life to which she was born, is very attractive. Combining social power and personal charm, she was sought by many princes and noblemen of Europe.

At the Vanderbilt residence, No. 640 Fifth Avenue, the butler who answered the telephone call after the ceremony, expressed surprise when first informed of the wedding and said that he was "certain" that neither General nor Mrs. Vanderbilt, both of whom are in town, knew the wedding was to be held.

Later in the evening the same butler answered all queries with the reply that General and Mrs. Vanderbilt were "indisposed to every one."

Miss Vanderbilt left her home alone shortly after 10 o'clock without saying where she was going. While the wedding was being performed, the butler said, Mrs. Vanderbilt was preparing to leave the house for the afternoon.

General Vanderbilt went to his offices at No. 32 Nassau Street as usual, and at 11.15, fifteen minutes before the wedding, told his business secretary, Mr. Perlow, that he was going to luncheon, and after that to a directors' meeting. He did not return to the office again, Mr. Perlow said.

The other member of the immediate family, Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., who has not been on good terms with his father and mother lately, told The World over the telephone that the afternoon that his sister had called him up that morning and told him she was going to be married.

"Oh, positively," said the young man, "it was without the consent of either father or mother. In fact, I happen to know that the release she married Mr. Davis so suddenly was because father and mother wanted her to marry an Englishman. Davis is a fine fellow, he said he did not think it would be right to tell the name of the Englishman, to whom he referred."

When approached by a reporter for The World's Bureau in Washington, Mrs. Armstrong Davis, mother of the bridegroom, said:

"All I know is that they are married."

James Vanderbilt, who is twenty-seven, was presented to society at a dinner given by her father and mother in Beausieu, the Newport Summer estate, in November, 1918, and has since been reported betrothed to various noblemen of Europe and to wealthy sons of American families. Never has one of the reports been confirmed.

Usually they were emphatically denied by Miss Vanderbilt herself. Among the reports was that she was engaged to a son of the late John D. Rockefeller, who was reported to have been Prince Dietrichstein of Austria, the Marquis of Donegal, Lord Ashley, son and heir of the Earl of Shaftesbury, Lord Ivor Spencer Churchill, Princess Henry and George, sons of the King of England; William C. Chandler, a descendant of John Jacob Astor, and Albert M. Ely, attorney and Yale graduate.

Friends of the Vanderbilts seemed sure that the most probable cause for the sudden ceremony was the fact that Miss Vanderbilt always has expressed dislike for the pomp and publicity she thought some day inevitably would accompany her decision to marry.

The engagement of the couple who was reported last May, and although unconfirmed, like all previous ones, never was denied officially by the family, and it is said that close friends of Miss Vanderbilt had been told that the engagement was to be announced in August and the wedding performed not long thereafter. For this purpose, it is said, the estate at Newport, where Miss Vanderbilt was presented to society nine years ago, was to be opened.

Mr. Davis, the bridegroom, who is twenty-five, comes of an old and wealthy family of West Virginia, his grandfather and namesake, now dead, having made millions in mining there in his youth. Senator Davis was once the Democratic nominee for Vice-President. The young man's father, John T. Davis of Elkins, W. Va., entered suit in the District Court at Washington last May, naming his son Henry as chief defendant, and claiming that while he was "incompetent mentally and physically" in 1923 a trust had been drawn up making his son the controller of the great estate. His alleged fraud has since been recovered, his health and wished to break the trust. The suit is still pending.

The bridegroom was graduated from Princeton in 1924, and recently was named vice-president and general manager of the Armstrong Mines, of which his uncle, the best man at the wedding, is president. He is a nephew of Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins and Mrs. Arthur Lee of Washington, D.C., and on his maternal side a great-grand-nephew of the late George H. Story, noted American portrait painter. He is a member of the Racquet Club, the Princeton Club and a Son of the Revolution.

He has a bachelor apartment at No. 277 Park Avenue.

Miss Gaultier to Study Folk Lore of British Columbia

Winnipeg, Man., July 6.—One of Canada's most interesting daughters, Juliette La Verendrye Gaultier, passed through Winnipeg over the Canadian Pacific en route to Banff. Miss Gaultier has been studying herself to the study of Canadian folk lore and song for the past two years and has given numerous recitals in the larger American cities. Her voice was heard over the radio from Ottawa during the Diamond Jubilee celebrations.

Her present trip West is to make an intensive study of Indian and Eskimo songs. She will visit the reserves of the Kootenays and obtain at first hand the traditional songs and later render them herself in full costumes with authority and the correct atmosphere. Later Miss Gaultier will travel to Alaska to become further acquainted with the music of the North. Alaska and Copper Eskimo, whose songs she says are even more interesting on account of the shorter scale than our Canadian Indian.

With Miss Gaultier are Miss E. Marie Boggs of the Bureau of Commercial Economies of the United States, and L. O. Armstrong of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who are doing research work in the mountains and in the Queen Charlotte Islands. Each year the bureau borrows lecturers from Canada on such subjects as woodcraft, animal life and folk lore.

RUSH OF ORDERS B.C. LUMBER MILLS CANCEL SHUTDOWN

Operations Speeded up to Meet Heavy Demand From Australia and Orient

Vancouver, B.C., July 6.—Although lumbermen in British Columbia agreed some time ago that the best thing for the industry would be to close down for a period or reduce production, they found this impossible owing to large orders booked for Japan, Australia, and South Africa. They will run at capacity until the middle of August. Domestic trading is slow owing to the holidays, but all prices are unchanged. The fire hazard here has been less than for the last decade at this season.

Log prices—Pine, $10, $15, $20; hemlock, $11; cedar, $7, $13, $20; spruce, $12, $20, $30.

Export prices—Merch. base, $16; Jap $20.40 squares, $20.50; fr. $24; $21; hemlock, $19.50 to $20.50.

Domestic prices—Average schedule, Atlantic $45, fr. $18; hemlock, $16.50 to $17; common dimensions, straight cars, $4 to $4.50 off rail B.

Only two lumber charters have been posted here during the last week: Japanese steamer, from North Pacific to Japan during July or August, on private terms, for the Douglas Fir Company Limited, Roman Maru, Japanese steamer, North Pacific to Japan during July, on private terms, for Yamachio.

KAGA MARU WILL TAKE BIG CARGO

N.Y.K. Vessel Sails To-day
For Orient; New York Newspaperman on Board

Taking out a capacity cargo and a full passenger list, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner, Kaga Maru, Capt. Y. Yoshida will sail from here this afternoon for Japan and China ports. The Kaga will arrive from Seattle about 4 o'clock, sailing again at 5:30 o'clock.

For the outward trip the Kaga's cargo holds 7,000 measurement tons including 1,000,000 feet of lumber. The vessel will pick up mail, supplies and seven passengers here.

Passengers embarking here include three first cabin and four steerage. The first cabin passengers are, Harold Butcher, New York newspaperman who will disembark in Japan, after which he will make a trip on the Trans-Pacific Railway to Europe, and Miss D. M. Dickinson, wealthy globe-trotter of London, England.

Iyo Maru Due Here July 13 With Big Cargo

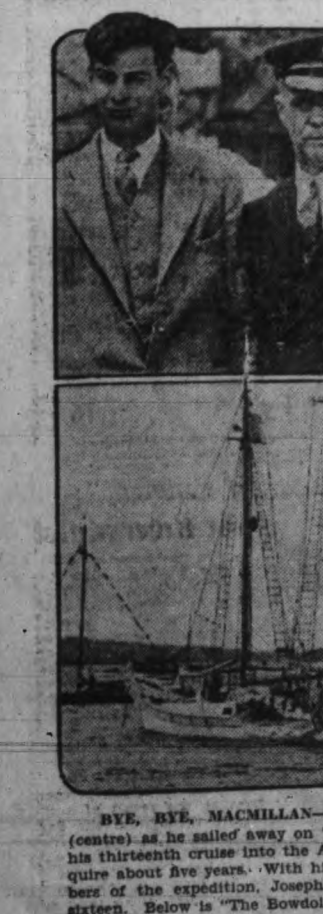

With over 3,500 tons of Oriental cargo besides a silk shipment of 2,736 bales and cases of silk valued at nearly $3,000,000, and a passenger list of over seventy-five, the N.Y.K. liner, Iyo Maru will arrive here July 13, according to a wireless received from Capt. Fujimura. The Iyo Maru sailed from Yokohama June 29.

HOTEL MAN RESIGNS

Edmonton, July 6.—W. S. Dettlor, for the last two years manager of the Macdonald Hotel, has resigned from the service of the Canadian National Railways to become manager of the new LaSalle Hotel in Kingston, Ont. He will be succeeded by Chas. Weldon, assistant manager of the Jasper Park lodge, who will assume his new duties on Saturday, July 8. Mr. Dettlor has spent some thirty years in the hotel business, twenty-three of which have been with the service of the C.N.R. in various hotels throughout the system.

ROVER DUE TO-DAY

With general cargo from California ports, the Canadian Government Merchant Marine coastal freighter Canadian Rover is due here late this afternoon from San Francisco.

BYE, BYE, MACMILLAN—Commander Donald B. MacMillan (centre) as he sailed away on "The Bowdoin" from Wiscasset, Me., on his thirteenth cruise into the Arctic. His present explorations will require about five years. With him are pictured the two youngest members of the expedition, Joseph Field (left) and Henry Warren, both sixteen. Below is "The Bowdoin" just before her anchor was weighed.

FERRY OLYMPIC CARRIES RECORD NUMBER OF CARS

On July 3, Sunday, the motor ferry Olympic, operated by the Puget Sound Navigation Company between Victoria and Port Angeles, carried the largest number of automobiles in one day that it has ever taken. The vessel made an extra trip on that day to accommodate United States excursionists coming here for the holiday. According to records of the company, 164 automobiles were carried.

THREE SHIPS SAILED OUTWARD YESTERDAY

Protesilaus and President
Madison For Orient; Highlander Away

Outward bound sailings yesterday afternoon from this port, included two vessels for the Orient and one for Eastern Canada.

Loaded down to her waterline with cargo, the Blue Funnel liner Protesilaus cleared about 2:30 o'clock for Japan and China ports. She was in port nearly three hours taking mail and passengers.

Commencing her second voyage in the Oriental horsehoe route of the Dollar and American Mail lines the St. President Madison cleared about 6 o'clock. Twenty steerage passengers boarded the vessel which also took out a capacity cargo.

The Canadian Government Merchant Marine freighter Canadian Highlander left about the same hour from Ogden Point, bound for Montreal with lumber from this port.

The inbound Furness Pacific motorship Pacific Trader cleared for Vancouver about 4 o'clock after discharging here.

Virginia People On Tour of B.C.

Vancouver, July 6.—Nearly 150 people from the State of Virginia, members of the twenty-day tour of Commerce of that state, are visiting Vancouver.

Following an extensive tour of the territory between Victoria and the Strait of Juan de Fuca, they will embark to-night on the steamship Prince Rupert for Stewart, whence they will go by way of Prince Rupert, to Jasper National Park, Calgary and Banff, homebound.

MOTORSHIP BATTERED WHILE IMPRISONED BY ICE IN BERING SEA

Seward, Alaska, July 5.—The motorship Carpenter, Capt. Alex. Allen, showing the effects of the twenty-day imprisonment in the Behring Sea ice while en route from Nome to Seattle, took on oil here yesterday and proceeded to Puget Sound port.

C.P.R. VESSEL HAS LARGE SILK PARCEL

Empress of Russia Bringing
7 000 Bales; Silk Traffic
Heavy Through Vancouver

With 7,000 bales of raw silk in her holds, besides considerable general cargo, R.M.S. Empress of Russia, Commander A. J. Hoeken, R.N.R., will arrive here Sunday morning from Japan, China and the Philippines.

The Russia will be the third vessel this month to take a large silk cargo to Vancouver, and shipments of that valuable product through the Mainland port are expected to set a record this month. The Blue Funnel liner Taitchybus, which arrived Monday, brought 4,000 bales for discharge at Vancouver, and the Paris Maru, second of the direct vessels in the new O.S.K. service, will arrive on the Mainland Friday with 3,000 bales of raw silk and fifty tons of goods. It is expected that two other silk ships will be in before the end of the month, swelling the total for the month to nearly 26,000 bales of $21,000,000 worth of silk.

Ancient Barque Used as Aquarium

San Francisco, July 6.—The historic sixty-four-year-old barque Star of India left yesterday for Los Angeles, after being used as an aquarium for the last few days.

The vessel was bound for San Diego to be delivered to the San Diego Zoological Society for use as an aquarium annex to the zoo. The barque, which was built in England, was christened the Euterpe and used in the Australian trade until 1895. She was taken over then by the Alaska Packers' Association and used in the fishing trade until five years ago when she was laid up in Oakland Creek.

A day late due to a side trip made over the Fourth of July to Ensenada, the Admiral liner Emma Alexander, in command of Captain G. A. Harris, arrived here at noon yesterday and sailed only four hours behind schedule.

Among the passengers aboard the liner when she sailed was David Nixon, formerly of Vancouver, who is returning to the northern port.

Loaded with one of the heaviest cargoes carried out this year, the N.Y.K. liner, Iyo Maru sailed yesterday for the Orient. In the vessel's holds were 1,332 tons of pig lead, 97 automobiles, 55 safes weighing a total of 28 tons and 5,000 sacks of rice.

The Panama Pacific liner Manchuria, which arrived here Monday from New York, was shelled yesterday by the Hunter's Point drydock, where she will undergo cleaning and painting. She is scheduled to sail on her eastbound voyage Saturday.

OUTSIDE OPINION
"Using the arguments of R. W. Babson in his address on July 4 at Vancouver, Victoria has equal if not better advantages than any other city on the coast for port development," Mayor Pendray said. "That means something from a man of Mr. Babcock's standing." A mass meeting will be called by the City Council for Tuesday night next at the Chamber of Commerce, when full details of the proposed cold storage plant will be discussed and placed before the public.

"I hope the citizens of Victoria will back up the efforts of the council in our endeavor to stimulate business in the city by developing the Outer Docks, increasing the port tonnage and helping labor conditions. This done, I am convinced that there will be an upward movement in real estate values and the city's position will be considerably bettered. The reverted lands which burden us will be sold at a profit, and from these we can meet our obligations when called upon. When this is done my purpose when I took office first as mayor will have been accomplished. I will be satisfied."

PINNEO INTERESTED

Mayor Pendray received testimony of Mr. Pinneo's lasting interest in the welfare of Victoria in a letter this morning where the erstwhile port development and industrial expert pointed out what Seattle had been doing in regard to cold storage plants. He indicated the vast importance such a plant was to the whole district. Hundreds of carloads of produce came into that plant at Spokane Street terminal, he said, were chilled and kept until the most opportune time to put them on the market. Growers got bigger prices in consequence. In addition to the strawberries which are pouring in to the plant by the ton, there are 45,000 cases of eggs in storage as well. Work is being done to enlarge the plant to take care of the larger amounts of perishables entering it for preservation.

Questioned concerning a letter in the local press signed by Hanson Brothers, Montreal, which stated that the underwriters of the cold storage plant project considered the bylaw which Victoria is considering in this connection ultra vires, Mayor Pendray said to-day he had himself received a letter from counsel for Hanson Brothers which gave him assurance that their agreement would be carried out if all negotiations were completed satisfactorily and the by-law made agreeable to them within ninety days. There would be no difficulty in overcoming any legal objections, Mayor Pendray said, and he had the city's attorneys to back him, he added.

ROUmania Suffers Heavy Storm Loss

Bucharest, July 6.—A storm of cyclonic proportions, accompanied by hail, brought havoc to the Ardeal region Saturday. It caused property damage estimated at more than $2,000,000 and injured a number of persons, but as far as is known, no one was killed.

As the telegraph lines are down the full extent of the disaster is not known, but word has been received that thousands of acres of crops were wiped out. The town of Bantolau suffered particularly. In eight minutes the principal buildings were unroofed and dozens of trees were uprooted.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Victoria Radio Club will meet at the club rooms on Dallas Road at 8 o'clock, Friday, July 7.

Stevenson's chocolate shop will broadcast over the aid this evening at 8 o'clock. A play entitled "The Vandyke Rubies," which is the fourth episode in the adventure of James Denny.

The Jubilee Hospital to-day reported comparatively little change in the condition of Sydney Marocchi of Cumberland, found with a fractured skull lying on Port Street on Monday morning. His condition is still grave.

To deliver three lectures before the British Israel Society in King's Hall, Rev. William Pascoe Oard, F.R.G.S., will arrive in Victoria to-day. The meeting to-night will commence at 8 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Oard is well-known as a public lecturer. Besides speaking in Albert Hall, London, where he was received by 10,000 persons, he has spoken in Toronto, Regina, Winnipeg and Vancouver. On his return trip to London he will lecture in Chicago, Boston and New York.

Missing since 7:30 o'clock Monday evening, Alexander Bruce, 484 Head Street, has been fruitlessly sought ever since both by police and relatives. The man is about fifty-three years of age, 5 feet 6 inches in height, medium build, with reddish hair, ruddy complexion and bushy eyebrows, and a clean-shaven face. When last seen he was in his way to Macaulay Park to gather driftwood and wore a grey coat, grey coat and khaki shirt and overalls. Anyone who can report a clue in the case is asked to communicate with Chief of Police John A. Brennan at the Victoria Police Office or with the Provincial Police who will assist in the search for the missing man.

ISLAND TO PROVIDE MANY HOP PICKERS

Mainland Growers, Harvesting Huge Crop, Coming Here For Workers

Mainland hop growers, about to harvest the greatest crop in the history of the province, will require many pickers from Vancouver Island as well as the mainland, according to advice received by the Department of Labor here.

The Victoria Employment Bureau is asking men who wish to pick hops to register immediately, so that officials may know how many pickers are available here. It is stated that pickers may expect to make from $2 to $4 a day, according to the speed at which they work.

For the first time in its history the British Columbia hop industry is in need of white pickers. In the past Indians have been able to handle the crop, but the greatly-increased acreage planted to hops this year has made it necessary to secure some 5,000 pickers in the Fraser Valley. In the Sumas district, which is producing its first substantial hop crop, 1,500 hop pickers will be needed.

CARING FOR THIRTY DESERTED CHILDREN

One of Great Problems of Friendly Help Association

The president, Mrs. W. J. Cullum, presided at the meeting of the Friendly Help Association held Tuesday morning, July 5, at the twelve members were present, including Alderman Harvey representing the city.

Ninety-nine cases, consisting of 399 children, were dealt with during the month of June. Fifty-eight of these had groceries, ten had fuel, forty-one had milk, thirty had meat, thirty-two had clothing, and twenty-two had jam, rhubarb, vegetables, etc., from the rooms.

"The problem of deserted mothers with children is still with us," says the report, "and nine of these with thirty children are being cared for now."

The association will take charge of the tagging at the Market Building on Saturday, July 16, for the public health committee of the Local Council of Women, towards the running expenses of the children's operating table at the Jubilee Hospital.

"Fruit, vegetables and jam would be very gratefully received at the rooms, as they are always being asked for. Because of the nature of the work, the association feels they must confine their expenditure to the real necessities."

The association acknowledges with thanks the following donations received during June, 1927:

Ottawa, July 6.—Approximately 5,000 poultrymen of the United States, headed by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, will attend the sessions of the Third World Poultry Congress here from July 27 to August 4.

AT STANDSTILL
Geneva, July 6.—The Three-power Naval Limitation Conference, with Great Britain, the United States and Japan participating, is at a standstill as far as the British delegation is concerned.

The next word lies with the Governments in London, Washington and Tokyo. It is they who must help or even direct the solution of the cruiser problem, which, if not settled, means the collapse of the conference.

The situation to-day is that the United States delegation has stated its view to the British that limitation can only be achieved by keeping cruiser strength within 400,000 tons, which is some 50,000 tons higher than the present United States cruiser strength.

NUMBERS AND SIZE
The United States delegates say in effect: "We do not object to your having seventy odd cruisers if you really need them, but distribute the ships. The total will not create a big excess over your present total tonnage."

To this the British answer: "We need about ninety cruisers, but if you can't stand upon keeping large size cruisers, then we must naturally build ours up to maximum size when the time comes to replace the ships. Some thirty of which are of 5,000 tons displacement or even less. If you will construct smaller ships, it will automatically bring down our total tonnage figures."

IN A CIRCLE
Thus the cruiser puzzle works in a circle. Furthermore, Great Britain says: "Large warships are essential for aggression; small ones, defence. We need only small cruisers to protect our trade routes and food supplies. Great Britain simply can't run the risk of being isolated, and anyway we didn't start this naval race."

The only practicable solution now in sight seems to be a private agreement between Great Britain that she will continue to build a certain number of the small cruisers which she has indicated as sufficient in size for distant operations, as insistence upon the right to build 10,000 and 7,500-ton vessels would bring the British total near the 400,000-ton mark.

AT CRITICAL STAGE
Geneva, July 6.—"Crucial," "serious" and "preliminary" were some of the words used to-day in connection with the position of the Three-power Naval Limitation Conference here as regards cruisers.

Following upon the action of the United States in limiting the number of tons of cruisers for each of Great Britain and the United States, or 100,000 tons more than the intended limit, came to the conference, the question was raised whether Great Britain would recede from her original demand for something slightly under 400,000 tons. The United States spokesman had indicated his country would continue to make efforts to have the cruiser limitation figure well under 400,000 tons.

Speaking of the British need of a large number of small cruisers, Mr. Hon. W. C. Bridgeman, First Lord of the Admiralty, said that the Admiralty had been studying the position of Great Britain, which he said, laid it open to a constant danger of the cutting off of food supplies. He recalled that during the World War seventy cruisers were occupied in chasing the German raiders, twenty-nine of them in pursuit at one time.

STATEMENT BY BRIDGEMAN
Geneva, July 6.—In an informal talk with press correspondents here last evening, Mr. Hon. W. C. Bridgeman, First Lord of the Admiralty, said that the British delegation to the Three-power Naval Limitation Conference, made a detailed statement on the attitude of the British as to their naval requirements.

He put special emphasis on the statement that while Great Britain's cruiser strength at the outbreak of the war in 1914 was 114 cruisers, including those under construction, and at the time of the armistice, 129, it had fallen in February, 1927, to seventy-one, this figure included a building programme of nine.

Mr. Bridgeman distributed a document which declared that in 1923, the British fleet was being rebuilt, because, although Britain since the Armistice had laid down only eleven warships of all types, the four other principal naval powers had laid down a total of 31. As a consequence, continued the statement, Great Britain had laid down five cruisers in 1924 and Australia two in 1925, and planned others for later years.

"Due to the special geographical position of the British Empire and the necessity of defending its communications as regards food supplies," said the statement, "a certain minimum of cruisers is essential. The number of eight-inch gun cruisers would represent an immense offensive force; hence we have suggested, first, limitation of the maximum displacement and armament of individual cruisers, considerably less than the limitations now in force, and, second, strict limitation of the number of eight-inch gun cruisers."

These proposals, by materially reducing the gun power of cruisers, would greatly diminish their offensive capabilities. Incidentally, the economic saving for all nations would be considerable, and thus reduce the burden of naval armaments.

Elaborating the statement, Mr. Bridgeman made one remark which was interpreted to mean that the British delegation might be willing to sign an agreement restricted to destroyers and submarines when he observed that already a sufficient understanding had been arrived at in the conference to make a considerable advance in the line of disarmament.

He insisted the British policy was based on the sound axiom voiced by Hugh S. O'Grady in his opening speech at the conference that the United States had no right or interest in maintaining a naval force which would constitute a threat to anybody, but had the right to maintain a naval force for national requirements and defence.

SMALL VESSELS REQUIRED
"We did not start this building race," said the First Lord of the Admiralty. "Replacements, of course, necessitated new ships, but we always thought merely to keep the trade routes open and the extensive shores of different parts of the British Empire. We could not run the risk of being cutoff or risk our defence. Hence, we have asked for number of small vessels rather than large warships with heavy guns which would seem more for aggression than defence."

In conclusion, Mr. Bridgeman estimated Great Britain's future cruiser needs at about seventy-one, with a total tonnage of 800,000, comprising possibly twenty-three of 10,000 tons and forty-eight of 7,500. He said Britain would probably replace its thirty smaller size cruisers with 10,000-ton or 7,500-ton craft.

STEVE JONES WINS TWO MORE AT PORTLAND

(Special Dispatch to The Victoria Times)

Portland, Ore., July 6.—By defeating Scott Stewart of San Francisco, 6-1 and 7-5 to-day, Steve Jones of Victoria, B.C., the phenomenal junior winner of the year's junior tennis championship of British Columbia, continued his climb towards the finals of the Oregon and Pacific Northwest Junior tennis championships.

As a result of to-day's victories the Victoria boy enters the fourth round.

OVER THREE HUNDRED AT SUMMER SCHOOL

Classes For Teachers Open at High School To-day

With over 300 students enrolled, the Provincial Summer School opened at the Victoria High School Monday morning. The classes which are being held under the supervision of John Kyle provide very fine subjects with first class teachers. The school will continue until August 5.

Courses in teaching methods and manual arts for elementary school teachers, folk dancing and playground games, choral music and penmanship classes have proved to be most popular. During the term the Summer school students enjoy themselves socially. To-night a dance will be held at the High School gymnasium which will be attended by Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Education, and Mrs. MacLean and Dr. S. J. Willis, Superintendent of Education and Mrs. Willis.

On Friday a dramatic entertainment will be presented by Harold Nelson Shaw. A musical programme will also be given. Among the contributing artists will be Mrs. Arthur Dowell and Miss Dorothy Morton.

Yesterday afternoon the students were addressed by Dr. Koo, prominent Chinese visitor.

The various classes with the teachers and number of students attending them are as follows:

Health class—Instructors, Mrs. C. A. Lucas (superintendent), Sancho Health Centre, and W. Gordon Brandreth (member of Institute of Hygiene, London); fifty students.

Home economics—Instructor, Mrs. Lillian Cooke (Columbia University, New York); twenty-five students.

Course in teaching methods and manual arts for elementary school teachers—Instructors, Mr. C. B. Wood (Provincial Normal School, Victoria), Miss Lella Burpee (Provincial Normal School, Vancouver), Mrs. Margaret Spouse (Durham College of Science, Newcastle-on-Tyne) and Mr. John Shaw (Vancouver); eighty-eight students.

Nature study course—Instructors, Major Geoffrey Van Tassak and Mr. G. J. Spencer (University of British Columbia); twenty students.

English literature, reading and expression—Instructor, Mr. H. Nelson Shaw (Vancouver and Los Angeles); forty-five students.

Physical education—Instructor, Dr. G. G. Sedgewick (University of British Columbia); forty students.

Folk dancing and playground games—Instructor, Mrs. C. A. Lucas (superintendent), Sancho Health Centre, and W. Gordon Brandreth (member of Institute of Hygiene, London); fifty students.

Vocal music—Mr. F. T. C. Wickett (Victoria); thirty-five students.

Choral music—Frederick Waddington (Victoria); supervisors' course—Fifty students.

The art course is divided into three sections, the first-year class under the instruction of Mr. W. P. Weston (Vancouver) and Mr. Alex. Hamilton (South Vancouver High School), having thirty-six pupils; the second-year, under the instruction of Mrs. Ina Uthoff (Victoria), twenty-three students; and third-year, instructor, Mr. Will Milne-laws (Victoria); thirteen pupils.

Science course—Instructor, E. S. Farr (Victoria College); seven students.

Geography—Dr. H. M. Leppard (University of Chicago), fifty students.

History—Instructor, Mr. Denton (Provincial Normal School, Victoria); forty-two students.

SOCIAL ENJOYED BY CONSERVATIVE WOMEN
Great success crowned the social held by the Women's Progressive Conservative Club last evening at the Sons of the Sea Club. Thirty-six tables were in play for whist and at 10:15 a large number of people arrived to take part in the dancing competition.

The winners for the cards were: First, Mrs. Gough and Mr. Wood; second, Mr. Anderson and Mr. Duplin; third, Mrs. Holmes and Mr. Holt; fourth, Mrs. Buckley and Mrs. Barclay. The winners for the dancing were: Miss McGinley and Mr. Lang. The minut was won by Mrs. Impett and Mr. Heanaki, and Miss Margorie Taylor secured the laurels for the Charleston. The judges were for the Charleston, Mrs. Houston and Mrs. Gleason, who found their task most difficult owing to their being so many excellent competitors, but the judges' decision was received with great applause. The orchestra supplied the music, and encores were repeatedly given. Great credit is due to the energetic committee, Mrs. Shipway and Mrs. Warder, who were at the receipt of tickets.

REALTORS HEAR OF FILM PROPOSALS

Claude Flemming Addresses Local Board at Luncheon To-day

Claude Flemming, actor and motion picture producer, who has the project for establishment of a film studio in Victoria in hand, was the principal speaker at the luncheon of the Victoria Real Estate Board to-day.

Mr. Flemming dealt at length with the British quota bill on films by which an increasing amount, from 7½ to 25 per cent of the films shown in England must be made in the British Empire commencing next year.

He mentioned how England, France, Germany and Italy had more or less stopped making films during the war period and the United States had captured the market. The practice of "block booking," by which a U.S. producer will force an English theatre manager to take several more films in order to secure those he knew were good attractions, is one of the targets of the quota bill, he explained.

England, however, is short of studios and actors, although she is building the industry rapidly fast. There will be a big demand for British-made films next year, Mr. Flemming pointed out.

Having been to Hollywood and discussed the film industry with English players and producers, he glovered that British Columbia was the logical and economical place for the production of really fine British-made films with the already-known stars.

"Names that count" are necessary to make a picture and assured success, he pointed out.

In Victoria you are fifty hours from Hollywood, where there is all the raw material necessary for making films, he continued. The actors can be brought here but could not be taken to England reasonably.

Mr. Flemming then discussed the amount of money required for film production. "We have been flooded with propaganda as to the enormous amounts paid to actors and used in making films and everybody is of the opinion that too much is needed for production except in the large centres."

He then explained that the huge salaries paid the actors did not total so high when it was seen that a star's part might be finished for one picture in from one to two weeks.

The speaker went on to quote figures to show the position of the exportation and importation of films into the United Kingdom in 1925 as compared with the pre-war period.

In 1913, 17,500,000 feet of films were imported by the United Kingdom from the U.S. In 1925, this had reached a total of 38,000,000 feet with a value of $2,300,000. The exports from the U.K. in 1913 were 2,800,000 feet, while in 1925 this figure dropped to 550,000 feet.

"I feel confident that there is a great future for motion pictures in England," Mr. Flemming stated. "And I am certain that Victoria is the logical place for the making of them."

Mr. Flemming was questioned on conclusion of his address on the budgeting of the films, the profits and release contracts.

R. B. Ker stated that film producers in the U.S. were cutting salaries and the industry was having a hard time supporting itself. Mr. Flemming replied that the Paramount people had stopped cutting salaries and declared an extra dividend this year.

With regard to the money put up by the ratepayers, a policy with which Mr. Ker declared he was not in favor, Mr. Flemming explained that he must go to England and secure $400,000 and a release contract for pictures made by the company, while the city put up $200,000.

With regard to the release of pictures, Mr. Flemming explained that all expenses of production were paid for by the release corporation upon receipts by them of the negative. It was all contracted for in advance.

"I am not a promoter, but a producer, and also an actor," he concluded. "I have a hard ladder to climb in going to England to raise $400,000 to bring back to put into films in Victoria. I might mention that the advertising value of the films to British Columbia would at least mean something."

Alderman Cuthbert Holmes followed Mr. Flemming with an explanation of points of protection in the by-law as drawn up for the voters on July 14.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL
The regular meeting of Queen Alexandra Review No. 11 W.B.A. was held in the S.O.E. Hall on Monday evening, the commander, Mrs. Schmelz, in the chair. Cordelia Bay was the guest chosen for the annual picnic, the first Wednesday in August the date. Ten dollars was voted to the Local Council of Women for the operating table for minor operations on children. Ice cream was served and a social time enjoyed.

Miss Grace Olson, whose marriage takes place this evening, was the guest of honor last Monday evening at a linen and towel shower given by Miss Beatrice McDonald at the home of her sister, Mrs. Harold Elworthy, 1280 McKenzie Street. The lining rooms were prettily decorated in shades of mauve and pink. During the evening court what was played, Miss Grace Olson winning first prize, a large colonial bouquet which, when lifted, proved to be the hiding place of many beautiful gifts. The second prize was won by Mrs. L. Glazen and the consolation by Miss Mildred Canamusa. The invited guests were: Mrs. W. H. Clarke, Mrs. J. P. Olson, Mrs. D. MacPherson, Mrs. R. Clarke, Mrs. G. Johns, Mrs. L. Glazen, Mrs. H. Clarke, Mrs. H. Elworthy, Mrs. A. Manufacturers' Outlet Sale of Men's Quality Suits

An Important Feature of Our July Sales

What Our Buyers Found When Recently in the Markets

Owing to the backwardness of the season manufacturers had been left with a surplus of cloth which was not anticipated. This was the opportunity of our buyers to purchase at a fraction of their real worth thousands of yards of imported fabrics. Our tailoring organizations, rather than remain idle during a slack period, agreed to convert these fabrics into suits at actual tailoring cost, with the result that we are now able to offer suits

Hot Water Bottles Help To Make Boys Cheer Up in Sheets

Canadian Footballers Have Great Time in New Zealand; Conditions Different

Manager Adam Writes in Entertaining Way of Treatment By Folks "Down Under"

Manager Jimmy Adam and his tribe of Canadian footballers are having a great time in New Zealand. Writing to the Sporting Editor of The Times the genial James gives further information on the tour.

The players have had some fun getting accustomed to the different conditions "down under," especially when they went to bed and struck the hot water bottles. The hotels are not well heated and in order to make the boys feel at home the comfortable bottle was placed in bed to give the sheets a different temperature.

The hospitality of the people in New Zealand has struck the boys very forcibly and they are at a loss for word to express their thanks.

Manager Adam's letter follows:

CROWDED WITH ENTERTAINMENT.
"Have not been in New Zealand long but the round of sightseeing, games, entertainment and hospitality that has been crowded upon us makes us feel we have been here a long time. We knew we were coming here for the winter, but so far it has been mild, somewhat like our spring. The hotels, however, have no heat excepting small fireplaces here and there and the boys have a hard time keeping warm.
"We have found living conditions much different. At 7 a.m. tea and biscuits are brought to our rooms and at 8.30 a.m. we have breakfast. Then at 10.30 we have morning tea and at 12.30 luncheon. Afternoon tea is served at 3.30 and at 6.30 we have dinner. Then if it isn't supper or some function to which we are invited supper is set for us at the hotel. It's nothing but eat it seems to me.
"The hotels all close at 10 p.m. and if you happen to be out late you have to ring for assistance and the night porter comes and lets you in. The early to bed slogan no doubt originated here.
"AT YOUR OWN.
"At the meal table a loaf of bread is always in evidence and you will find you can cut your own slice. It is sure shows up what kind of an expert you are with a knife. At dinner the staff is missing but we have a small slice of bread and butter. No butter is provided though and tea served only in request.
"These things all seem so different to us, but we are not admitting that we are missing anything. The cooking is excellent and thoroughly enjoyed by the team.
"The boys get quite a kick out of finding hot water bottles in their beds. Due to the lack of steam heat the rooms are cold in winter and in order to try and provide a little warmth hot water bottles are set in each bed at night.
GRAND COUNTRY.
"The country so far is grand. I never saw so much country reserved for dairy purposes. There are green rolling hills, fertile valleys and evergreen fields, stocked with fine sheep and healthy cattle. We visited one creamery where the output is 2,000 tons a year.
"The people here are the most hospitable I have ever seen. We do not go to private homes and parties. The Rotary Club are the prime entertainers and in every town so far have taken the Canadians in hand and provided high-class programmes, dances, etc.
"The players are in first-class condition and, if the continued entertainment continues to give us a good account of ourselves. Colin Reid, an old Scottish international who lives in Wellington, has joined us as trainer."

Timaru, New Zealand, July 6.—Playing their last game on the South Island and of New Zealand, the Canadian All-Stars yesterday afternoon defeated a South Canterbury team here by a score of four points, while Pugh and Turner were each responsible for one. Before they were tendered a civic reception here.

BEL. NUTHALL

Speed and accuracy of stroke explain the sensational play by little Betty Nuthall, sixteen-year-old English girl, in the finals of the women's singles at the Wimbledon tennis matches. Molla Mallory, the American, was one of the tournament stars who succumbed to Betty's racket prowess. The English expect great things of her in another two years.

Players Warming Up For Davis Cup Games In Toronto Shortly

Cubans Arrive and Complete Personnel of Canadian Team Will be Announced Soon

Toronto, July 6.—Cuba's crack quartet of contestants for the Davis Cup are now practicing on the courts of the Toronto Lawn Tennis Club for their clash with the Canadian team on July 14, 15 and 16. The Cubans are headed by Rogelio Paris, who captured the singles championship of Cuba recently. The other members of the team are Raoul Chacon, Marie Avellanar and Vincent Baret.
Jack Wright who, with Willard Crocker, has already been selected for the Canadian team, is at present playing in the Ontario championship games at Ottawa. Crocker is warming up at Montreal.
Speculation is rife among tennis fans as to who will be selected by the Davis Cup committee to complete the Canadian team.
The final personnel of the team will be announced before the end of the week.
Several Toronto players are mentioned among the favored candidates, among them Dr. A. W. Ham, Leroy Rennie and Gilbert Nunn. M. Rainville and M. Laframboise, both of Montreal, are also mentioned.
Japan will meet the winners of the Canadian team at Montreal for the championship of the American zone.

"Socking Day" Finds Many Sparring Pals Used Up By Dempsey

Former Champ Finds Fire of His Old Attack Hard to Hold in Restraint

Dempsey Looked Over by a Physician and Says He is "Splendid"

Saratoga Lake, N.Y., July 6.—Yesterday was "socking day" in the training camp of Jack Dempsey, where the former czar of the heavyweights is drilling for his drive back to the title throne.

Speed had its place too in six rounds of boxing, but the fire slowly returning to Dempsey's attack could not be held in restraint. In twenty seconds of the round, Jack sent Eddie McMullen, rugged New York middleweight, flying through the ropes and into the laps of newspapermen with a terrific left hook to the chin. The punch traveled less than a foot, yet Eddie had to be carried to the dressing room where he dozed until the day's work was done.

FINALLY NAILED SHADE

Dave Shade, Jack's pal from California, climbed into the ring after helping catch McMullen coming out and forced the big fellow to fight three furious minutes. Dave's weaving style, emulating the type of attack of Jack Sharkey, is expected to employ in the Yankee Stadium July 21, kept Dempsey bobbing in and out, ripping punches from all angles, but it was only in the final minute that Jack really caught up with the coast boy. Then he nailed Dave in a corner and drove three six-inch left hooks to the chin that left him reeling. McMullen, feeling his way from the ring, when the gong sounded.

The remainder of the session, equivalent to ten rounds of boxing, was completed with workouts of a round apiece against Johnny Saxon, Joe Gans, Marty Burke and Jack Hildebrand, a light heavyweight from Syracuse, N.Y., who had replaced Carl Carter, Chicago negro, on the payroll. Jack worked a round each with the light and heavy bags, yanked the chest weights and sparring several minutes with ring calisthenics and shadow boxing.

DAY BY DAY HE'S GETTING

Continuing to show daily improvement, Jack had his short punches under nice control, and showed no tendency to "swing from the hip." Down off his toes onto the balls of his feet, Dempsey ploughed around the ring in his old stiff-legged style. Under instructions from Manager L. P. Flynn, Jack practiced knocking down left leads with his right to make openings for the short left hooks that damaged McMullen and Shade so badly.
Dr. W. C. Frazer, New York surgeon, representing Tex Rickard, examined Dempsey yesterday and announced his physical conditions as "splendid."

Another announcement from the camp disclosed that Dempsey will start the twenty-four-mile swimming marathon on Lake George, about thirty miles from here on the morning of July 12.

Saratoga Lake, N.Y., July 6.—Jack Dempsey is satisfied he will again be the devastating puncher of championship days when he touches gloves with Jack Sharkey at the clang of the opening gong on the night of July 21.

Eased in mind by the rugged training drill that has kept him physically active since the suicide of his brother, Jack is certain that he can and will regain the sledge like striking power that carried him to the world heavyweight championship over Jess Willard, which he won by knocking him out in the fourth round, eight years ago.

NOT LONG TO GO

The Dempsey of to-day has sixteen training days before he must face the skill and confidence of sensational youth, and in impressive as yet only in possibility. Despite the shock of recent tragedy, Jack is care-free and playful in his work with the camp mates. He has composed that he lacked during preparation for the losing battle with Gene Tunney last fall. In training Jack surprised critics during early workouts when he chose to sacrifice development of speed for temporary display of soaking power. The weaving attack of the former title holder is developing into a fast, head bawling charge that carries him through a hail of straight punches into close quarters where he slams away effectively with both hands to the body.

For the time being, however, Dempsey will confine work to paring down his weight, now about 201 pounds, shortening punches and improving the speed of his attack.

New York, July 6.—Suggestions that the Dempsey-Sharkey fight July 21, at the Yankee Stadium might be postponed because of Dempsey's worry over the tragic death of his brother or to inability of the former champion to get into condition by that time were spiked yesterday by Tex Rickard, promoter, who declared that he had been no consideration of a postponement, that none was contemplated and that none would be made. He declared that he was in condition for the battle. He exhibited a telegram received to-day from the former champion, saying: "Firmly convinced I will be ready by the 21st. Positively no postponement."

New York, July 6.—Jack Sharkey, after preliminary training in the Maine woods and in a Boston gymnasium, will shift his preparations to Sharkey reported he weighed 196 pounds yesterday, and would require less than two weeks to be in top notch condition.
Although the public advance sale of tickets has just opened, Rickard disclosed to-day that orders already have passed the $250,000 mark. The promoter looks for a complete sell-out of the park's capacity, 60,000 to make a "gate" of $1,250,000, a record for a championship bout.

ALL THREE HAVE LIKING FOR SHARKEY

"Jack Sharkey is the man I will meet next September."

"There, ladies and gents, you have the word, the well modulated word, mind you, of Champion James Joseph Tunney. Up in the Adirondacks doing a light stage of training Gene said a few things about the plans he has in store for his well-tailored person, on the condition, of course, that he be correctly quoted.

"I see where Dempsey picks Sharkey to beat me. I suppose I ought to return the compliment and pick Sharkey over him, but we'll let that pass.

"I think that Sharkey is immeasurably smarter than Dempsey. He is a better boxer and he is faster, although not perhaps as hard a hitter. The two men have different styles. Sharkey stalks his opponents waiting for them to come on while Dempsey rushes in to kill."

Tunney evidently and honestly has much admiration for Sharkey's ability. There is little change of his under-estimating him if they ever meet.

"Sharkey is young, clever and has earned his place. A fighter will not be able to lay back in fighting Sharkey. He is fast and clever enough to outpoint an opponent and yet if a boxer should lay back and try to outpoint him there would be the constant threat of his right-hand punch."

Tunney already has given much thought about Sharkey's fighting ability since he watched him knock out Maloney in that vicious five-round quarrel a short time ago.

Now that Tex Rickard has arranged for Dempsey to fight Sharkey on July 21, everyone can sit back and wait to see just how good a prophet Mr. Tunney is.

There's a subtle difference in what Tunney, Dempsey and Sharkey believe. Tunney likes Sharkey over Dempsey, Dempsey likes Sharkey over Tunney, and Sharkey likes himself against both Tunney and Dempsey.

At any rate, it looks like the Summer will see all three in action.

FAVORITES STILL PLUNGE ONWARD IN TENNIS TOURNEY

With both wind and rain conspicuous by their absence, ideal conditions prevailed for the third round matches played yesterday in the annual scratch and handicap tournament of the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club. The favorites persisted in their winning ways, but many of the matches, particularly in the doubles, were decided by narrow margins.

Fairbairn and McCallum both advanced in easy fashion in the men's open singles.

Two fine first sets were seen in the mixed doubles event yesterday. Miss Miller and Merston defeated Miss Wilson and Dispecker, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, while Mr. and Mrs. Ismay were downing Miss Brydon and McCallum by precisely the same score.

Miss Mary Campbell advanced to the third round of the ladies' open singles by defeating Miss Helen Wilson, 6-3, 6-3.

Yesterday's results were:

MIXED DOUBLES HANDICAP.
Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Ismay, plus 3-6, defeated Miss L. Brydon and A. H. McCallum, minus 15, 6-3, 6-4.

COAST'S SCULLING CHAMPION OFF FOR CANADIAN HENLEY

Vancouver, July 6.—Frank Adams Jr., undefeated Pacific Coast sculling champion, leaves this morning for the East. Adams will compete at the Canadian Henley late this month. If he makes a good showing at the Canadian event he will go to Wyandotte, Mich., where the American National Championships will be decided.

New Westminster, July 6.—Indefinite adjournment of the inquest on the body of Miss Josephine Carpenter, Tacoma, Wash., who was killed in an automobile accident on the Pacific Highway last Monday, was ordered by the Surgeon coroner, Dr. A. McBurney, last night.
The delay is occasioned by the necessity of evidence from J. Weatherbee, driver of the car, who is lying in the Royal Columbian Hospital with injuries to his head.
Weatherbee has made slight improvement, but his condition is still dangerous.

Toronto Appeal is Heard in London

London, July 6 (Canadian Press Cable).—On the appeal of the city of Toronto against the Consumers' Gas Company's methods of accounting in regard to premiums, the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council yesterday reserved judgment.
The question at issue in the appeal was whether the city of Toronto was entitled to compel the company to carry premiums on its sales of stock to a special reserve fund which should be applied to a reduction in the cost of gas. The lower court held the city itself had no recognized position or right to intervene.

Ottawa, July 6.—Arrangements have been completed for the departure from Ottawa this week the Government's Aerial Expedition to Hudson Strait. It is proposed to establish three aerial bases: one in the vicinity of Port Burwell at the east end of Hudson Strait, one in the vicinity of Nottingham Island, at the west end of the strait, and one in the vicinity of Big Island, on the north side of the strait, about midway between the two. The distance between Port Burwell and Nottingham Island is 500 miles.

The officer in charge of the expedition will be C. B. McLean, an engineer of the Marine and Fisheries Department, who will make the Big Island base his headquarters.

Six planes are being taken in—two for each base. The type of aircraft to be used is the Fokker Universal. It is equipped with the Wright Whirlwind engine of 200 horsepower, the same type of engine as was used by Colonel Lindbergh and Chamberlain on their transatlantic flights. The machine is capable of carrying four persons, together with the pilot, with an endurance of seven hours. The speed, full out, is 100 miles an hour, and when cruising eighty-five to ninety.

TO DEVELOP RESOURCES
The airman who are accompanying the expedition were received by Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways, who wished them bon voyage on behalf of the Government.
"Hudson Bay," he told them, "is a great inland sea, probably the largest inland sea not yet explored in the whole world. It is the richest of resources. Canada has determined that the resources adjacent to that sea shall be exploited and developed.

"You are not going up there for the purpose of deciding that work. That policy has already been decided upon. The Government intends to construct a railway to the bay. That railway is well on the way to completion now. It is the intention of the Government also to develop a port there; first, for the purpose of promoting the exploitation of the bay region generally, and secondly, to develop to the fullest possible limit Hudson bay and Strait as a transatlantic outlet for the products of the prairies, or of any part of the country that may desire to make use of the facility thus established."

AIDS TO NAVIGATION
"It is the policy of the Government," continued Mr. Dunning, "to provide for the development of the best port on the bay in order that all the resources of the territory adjacent to and surrounding the bay may be exploited and developed. Secondly, it is the intention of the Government to provide, so far as the facts which you will determine will permit, for ocean navigation from a port on the bay to any other port of the world. Your part has to do with determining what aids to navigation can be devised, as the result of your own observation of conditions there, to lengthen to its uttermost limit the known period of navigation through the strait. We know that the bay itself does not freeze over; we assume navigation within the bay is open for a greater length of time than navigation in the strait. Your expedition will gain useful information in that connection. It is a fact, nevertheless, that the strait has been navigated at various periods of the year for 300 years. It may be said it has not been commercially navigated, has not become a great ocean highway such as the North Atlantic. Upon what you are able to devise by means of your observations, upon what the technical officers of the Department of Marine and Fisheries are able to advise after study by way of scientific aids to navigation will depend the development of a new transatlantic route for a considerable portion of the year."

SUCCESS DESIRED
"The Government is very desirous that the route should be a success; that is, that there should be aids to navigation, and that, by taking advantage of the scientific development of modern facilities in every line, a commercially feasible route may be demonstrated, and that in addition to the development of the Hudson Bay route for transatlantic purposes, there should be a contingent and comprehensive development of the entire Hudson Bay region, the natural resources of which are so promising."

NEW EXPLORATION METHODS
"We are trying something new in the field of exploratory work of this character in bringing to bear in this large way the courage and the skill of flying men equipped with the most modern facilities and supported by the best and most complete appliances this marvelous age has made possible," said Mr. Dunning. "It is an opportunity which should enable you to demonstrate the value of your craft in work of this nature, and if you do it successfully, immediately a new vista opens, world-wide in extent, with respect to aviation generally."

"You know there is an element of risk about your job. Perhaps the risks of those northern latitudes may be greater than they are here. We can only say that, as a government, we are glad you have volunteered with your eyes open to assume those risks, whatever they may be. It speaks well for the Royal Canadian Air Force that Group Capt. Scott was simply overwhelmed with applications to accompany the expedition."

TO SAIL FROM HALIFAX
The members of the force will leave Ottawa on Saturday next and the expedition is due to sail from Halifax July 14, aboard the Canadian Government icebreaker Stanley, in charge of Capt. John Hearn, and the freighter Larch of Halifax, in charge of Capt. Balcom. The Stanley will remain with the expedition until late in the fall, patrolling the strait and rendering any necessary service in connection with the work. The duration of the present expedition is to be eighteen months, by which time it is understood a permanent plan will have been developed as to the requirements of the strait from the standpoint of aids to navigation and the possible extension of the navigation season.

RADIO EQUIPMENT
The radio branch of the Department of Marine and Fisheries will establish wireless stations at each of the bases which will provide communication between the bases and communication between headquarters at Big Island and such stations as Greenwood, Belle Isle, Ottawa and Port Nelson. Wireless communication from the planes to the ground will, as usual, be taken care of by the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals.

CONFEDERATION JUBILEE STAMP

In commemoration of the Sixtieth Anniversary of Confederation Postmaster-General F. J. Veniot has issued a set of six bi-lingual postage stamps.
One-cent, orange, portrait of Sir John A. Macdonald; two-cent, green, reproduction of the Quebec Conference, 1867; three-cent, red, centre-block of the Parliament Buildings; five-cent, purple, Sir Wilfrid Laurier; twelve-cent, blue, map of the Dominion as it is, with four original Confederation Provinces shaded; twenty-cent, orange, stages of mail transportation in Canada, the dog-train, the mail-rider, the steamship, the railway and the aeroplane.

New Progress in Measurement of Heat of the Stars

Washington, July 6.—Carrying an instrument so delicate that it is believed it could measure the heat of a match 5,000 miles away if no atmosphere intervened, Dr. Charles G. Abbott, acting secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, has started for Mount Wilson, Cal., to continue the measurement of the heat of the stars.
The instrument, so frail that its wings are used in its make-up, is described as an improved radiometer, ten times more sensitive than the one used by Dr. Abbott in 1923, when he made the first determination of the heat spectrum of ten of the brighter stars other than the sun in the history of astronomy.

With the new instrument Dr. Abbott believes it will be possible to observe the heat of the spectra of stars fainter than the Pole Star.

The Smithsonian official also plans to visit the solar radiation observatory on Table Mountain, Cal., where daily observations of the variations of the sun are being made in co-operation with stations in Chile and Southwest Africa to determine the sun's influence upon weather conditions.

WEST VANCOUVER TO BUY PLAYGROUND

West Vancouver, July 6.—Ratepayers of West Vancouver yesterday authorized the purchase of approximately thirty acres of Ambleside Beach for $30,500. The votes were 279 for and 128 against the plan.

The area extends eastward of Twelfth Street and south of Marine Drive to the waterfront. The land is intended as a playground.

Investigation Into New York
Collision is Conducted;
Five Killed

New York, July 6.—An official statement issued by the New York Central Railroad last night placed the casualties in the wreck near Iona Island yesterday at three killed, one fatally injured, eight seriously injured and fifteen others slightly hurt.

A preliminary investigation, the railroad's statement said, indicated that the engineer of the New York, Ontario and Western train, William Brandt of Weehawken, N.J., had disregarded the automatic block signals which were found upon test to be working properly.

A formal investigation of the wreck was conducted to-day.

Husky Dogs From Ontario Sent North

Vancouver, July 6.—Having completed nearly 1,000 miles of a 3,000-mile journey, a team of eight husky dogs arrived here yesterday from a point near Armstrong, in Northern Ontario. They are bound for Coronation Gulf, in the Arctic. They will be put aboard the Ss. Baychimo, which is to sail to-morrow.

The dogs are consigned to the inspector of the Hudson's Bay Company at Coronation Gulf and are a specially trained team developed for stamnia and long distance pulls.

PARTY CLIMBED
MOUNT SHUKSON

Vancouver, July 6.—The first successful ascent of Mount Shukson made by British Columbia climbers was the achievement of four members of the British Columbia Mountaineering Club over the holiday. The party consisted of R. W. Dobson, J. Norman and J. Irving, led by Arthur Cooper. Reaching Austin Pass by way of the Mount Baker Highway late Friday, the party established a camp at an elevation of 4,200 feet. Starting at 5 a.m. Saturday morning, the climbers reached the summit at 1 p.m., an elevation of 9,000 feet above sea level.

THE RECKLESS SPEED FIEND

The Story of a Young Wife Who Sought Excitement

THERE came a time in Laura's married life when boredom usurped the place once firmly held by romance. Little habits of Peter Milton, her husband, which hadn't amounted to much in the excitement of their first love, began to irritate and annoy her. She found herself dwelling on the dominant traits of her former admirers—began to compare them with "friend hubby," wondering if married life with them would have been more satisfying, more thrilling.

But being a good woman, Laura's conscience distressed her. And so she sought escape in excitement, in forgetfulness. She travelled around with a smart set of cynical men and women—adopted their sophisticated ways—drank their cocktails—smoked their cigarettes—became a speed fiend—and demanded excitement of life, ever more excitement! Then the climax came! Tragedy stalked where only pleasure had previously existed. At a gay party Laura is shown herself in very lurid colours. Was there any escape? Would Peter forgive and forget? You must read this profoundly moving confession of a discontented wife in TRUE STORY for AUGUST, entitled: "MY WILD RIDE."

SNARED

A Story of One Wonderful Week
By MALCOLM DUART
Copyright 1927

"Must have had nice times at your house," said Pierce, lifting a stack of plates to the cupboard.

"That's why I run away," the boy returned. "Ma was yelling about something all the time—nothing ever suited her—and when she came, he'd hang me in the head. I wish ma'd go home."

"So do I!" said Nadine, under her breath.

"Sort of a nightmare, isn't it?"

Pierce extended his hand for the letter, but Mrs. Smith with quick mistrust, put it behind her. Then, after an instant's study of his pleasant, friendly face she slowly brought the bit of paper forward and gave it to him. Nadine crowded back to look over his shoulder, but when she saw scrambled to his feet and joined them.

"Kind of rotten to read his personal letters," said Pierce, "but—"

his eyes sought the typewritten sheet.

"BENSON & HOLLEY

Investigators,"

said the letterhead.

"That means private detectives,"

Pierce observed. He began to read the letter aloud.

"Mr. J. E. Brown

Sherwood farm"

"Who in the dickens is Brown?"

Pierce called out to ask.

"Bodey called himself Brown when he came here," young Smith said.

"He's been going by that name ever since he hooked up with me."

Pierce went on with his reading.

"In answer to your letter of the 5th inst:

"It seems probable that the party went under an assumed name and was buried under same. Letters at cetera found in his room carry the names

"Smith," "Brown," "Bodey," and

"Schwartz," all of which we believe he used at various times."

"Bodey" exclaimed Nadine.

"That's what it says," confirmed

Pierce.

The woman and the boy pressed closer, as the young man went on.

"The reward for the murderer has been increased to $10,000."

Smith emitted a startled grunt, and his mother moved nearer to him.

"It's wicked and horrible for people to pursue a poor boy and tempt people to hunt for him, offering their dirty money," she wailed. "It's wicked!"

Pierce continued the letter:

"The case has practically been dropped by the police. Since victim had no friends who came forward and the case seems to be the very common one of a backroom brawl in a bootleg joint all the police have done is to send out descriptions of the boy and the man after they made a thorough search of the city for same without success.

"I shall advise you as you request of any further developments.

Respectfully: Benson & Holley, per

Benson."

"Ten thousand dollars for my poor boy!" cried Mrs. Smith.

The youth, with head drooping, slunk off into the corner and sat upon a chair, his arm draped over his back and his cheek resting on his shoulder.

"It's mighty queer," Pierce said.

"Somebody's offering all that money and the letter says 'none of your husband's friends came forward! I wonder who offered it?"

"The city, I suppose," surmised Na-cover. Good thing those deputies who came here looking for Nadine and me didn't recognize him!"

Mrs. Smith leaped in panic came here," she echoed. "When?"

"Same day Mr. Bodey captured me," said the young man. "I was running away from here and I saw them down at the end of the road. Then I ran back again, and told about 'em. Then

Nadine and I had been here, and then they ambled away."

"And they didn't see Elbert?"

"Best of us were out in the stable."

said Pierce. "No harm done."

"If any deputies come here, I'll—"

"I'll—!" Mrs. Smith searched her mind for penalties sufficiently severe.

"If they come, you'd better hide, too," Pierce said. "But say, isn't Bodey a shrewd one? Keeps in touch with the case through the very detectives who are looking for him!"

"Do you suppose he's claiming the reward for Elbert?" demanded the mother, starting up at the thought.

"Is that what he went away for?"

"Looks to me as if he'd be putting his own head into the noose. There's a description of him, too, you know."

"Charley, this is worse than I thought," exclaimed Nadine, when they were gone. "They're hiding because of a common, ugly saloon fight—because of a frightful, utterly awful murder!"

And Mr. Bodey's mix-up in it—he told us his own self that he was there!"

Pierce nodded. "And did you ever see anything like the way that woman and the boy take it?" She simply doesn't care a rap that her son killed his own father—all she thinks about is keeping him from being arrested."

And Mrs. Bodey's mix-up in it—he told us his own self that he was there!"

Pierce took a dry dish-towel. "It's infernal odd for a fellow that acts as nice as he does to be mixed up in this, isn't it?"

"I'm so disappointed in him. Charley, why do you think Mr. Smith used the name of Mr. Bodey?"

"I wonder—I wonder—" Pierce dropped his arms and looked speculatively out the window—"what do you suppose Bodey was doing in the back room of a dump like that? I'll bet my hat he doesn't touch bootleg. Know what I think, Nadine?"

"I think his brother's mixed in it.

Why else would he be risking his neck, charging out of a safe place like this to look for Stewart Bodey?"

Nadine came and stood at his shoulder. "I hope it's so! Maybe his brother's the man the detectives are looking for!"

Gentlemen:

I have been a sufferer from rheumatism for thirty years and have been gradually getting worse, till the pain in my knees, ankles, hands and back were so bad that at times I felt that I could stand it no longer.

A month ago I commenced using the LON-A-CO Belt and I can truthfully say the relief has been wonderful. Although I am now sixty-eight years of age I have accepted a position in a home at Shawanigan Lake, where I am going this week. Thanks to the LON-A-CO I am able to take this job, something I could not have dreamed of a month ago.

I heartily and sincerely recommend all sufferers to see and try the LON-A-CO Belt and get beneficial results as I have done.

Yours sincerely,

CITIZENS' FAITH NEEDED TO BRING INDUSTRIES HERE

Alderman Holmes Sees Opportunity For Prosperity and Progress

Success Lies Primarily in Confidence of People in Endeavors

Victoria faces a future with opportunity at her very door only waiting to be admitted, according to Alderman Cuthbert Holmes, who addressed a meeting of the Victoria West Brotherhood last night regarding the cold storage plant and motion picture by-laws which are to come to the people July 14. The city had to show the world that she had confidence in herself, said the alderman, and could do this in no better way than in standing united behind the projects which the City Council had seen fit to advance for her good.

"The hands of the clock of progress do not move very fast here, and not as quickly as in some other places on the coast," said Alderman Holmes by way of introduction.

"Thirty years ago Victoria led the way on this Pacific Coast. Where is she to-day?" he said.

Alderman Holmes spoke, he said, not only as a citizen, but as a father of four children. He was looking into the future, he stated, and not only were the hands of progress moving slowly, but relatively they were crawling. It was a fact that where bank clearings in other Canadian cities were increasing by ten per cent annually, Victoria only showed a one per cent increase. It was for the people to safeguard the future, he asserted.

While he did not like government subsidy for industries, he pointed out that France had done that very thing. Some said that it was undignified for Victoria to accept such subsidies, but France did not consider it so. Germany, by a system of government subsidy, took from England some of her most important industrial markets. Great Britain had done the same thing, he declared. It seemed profitable.

"If we have confidence in our city, we must do very concrete things," said Alderman Holmes.

Victoria lost what is now the Great B.C. Sugar Refinery because she refused assistance at the request of those behind that business. There are other instances where, because Victoria could not see the way clear to assist young industries, she had lost them.

"Victoria has to do something to help herself," said Alderman Holmes. Proof that Victoria had confidence in itself, the first thing which would carry most weight with the world, Alderman Holmes continued. If an inducement was needed to encourage the coming of industry, this should be given.

The cold storage plant, the grain elevator and the motion picture industry were the very things which things said the speaker. These industries, once established, would mean development along broad lines, and could only result in greater prosperity.

He spoke first of the grain elevator project. No terminal grain elevator in Canada had ever been a financial failure. Further, Alderman Holmes continued, grain in Canada was moving west in steadily increasing quantities. Sir Henry Thornton had given assurance that 200 carloads of grain would be delivered at Victoria daily if necessary, said Alderman Holmes. This could be dumped here more cheaply than at Vancouver simply because it cost the Canadian National line money to put grain through Vancouver. Men who knew the grain business, said the alderman, had asserted that there was no reason why Victoria could not achieve big things in the grain trade. It was his belief, said the speaker, that the elevator would bring handsome returns even if it was leased by the city. Its value alone would be three-quarters of a million dollars. The elevator would have a bank credit of $200,000, as well. Banks seemed to think the project was sound. That was another striking fact, he declared.

NATURAL ADVANTAGES

Alderman Holmes brought up the matter of the cold storage plant. Vancouver Island, he said, had the right climate to make it a huge producing field for perishables. To make Victoria a centre for export of farm produce it was necessary to have a cold storage plant.

The cold storage plant was a thing for which Mayor Penderay and Roger D. Pinneo had labored unrelentingly. A thing which these men thought a sound business investment was enough for him, said Alderman Holmes. The returns from such a plant in wages, opportunities and encouragement to agriculture were tremendous.

Victoria had only been asked to guarantee interest on the original investment of $700,000 to the backers of the cold storage plant. Alderman Holmes explained. Fish was one of the big commodities which would be handled through this plant. The fishing grounds off the island's coast guaranteed a ready supply of this product of the ocean, the speaker said. Agricultural produce, poultry, apples and other fruits from all B.C. would swell the bulk of the plant's business.

Prince Rupert was built on its cold storage plant. Seattle's back-bone industry was a plant of the same kind. And one of the biggest cold storage men in the East had offered his services as manager of the local plant. For such reasons as these, said Alderman Holmes, he believed that the cold storage plant was a good thing for Victoria.

the motion picture industry. But Australia was not a place in which to produce these films, and Mr. Fleming had chosen Victoria as the ideal producing centre.

Alderman Holmes pointed out how American pictures influenced the world. Perhaps British prestige was slumping a little because of the part British characters played in American picture dramas. Great Britain was working to get its share of the motion picture industry, and was forcing its films into British theatres. British theatres were going to buy the very best films they could get, Alderman Holmes said. They were going to ask for films in which the most popular stars appeared. Hollywood and Victoria were only two days' travel apart, unless passage was taken by aeroplane. Hollywood's services could be obtained in Victoria more cheaply than in any other part of Canada.

Regarding the finances of the motion picture by-law, Alderman Holmes said that the city would be asked to guarantee a $200,000 security, while Country investors were to be asked to put up $400,000, having only junior security. The city would pay nothing until the $400,000 was forthcoming from Great Britain.

No money would be spent by the company in making a picture until after the picture itself was actually contracted for, Alderman Holmes said. There was plenty of safeguard for the city, he pointed out. Twenty per cent. of the profits of the company each year were to go back into the sinking fund, the speaker continued.

The investment would cost Victoria only $17,000 a year, the alderman stated. The $400,000 of English money which Mr. Fleming would have to get, had to come from motion picture people only.

Summing up, Alderman Holmes said that Victoria was being asked to spend a sum on investments the returns from which would be in excess of the expenditure.

Claude Fleming himself spoke to the gathering on the motion picture industry, and explained its workings, showing how economy was practiced and how stars were hired. Victoria could supply films on each side of her, more quickly than any other place, for it was the centre of the British Empire.

"The time has come," said Mr. Fleming, "when British children should know that there are other heroes who can save women besides Tom Mix and that Britishers can be just as splendid gentlemen as any American."

Questions were put to Alderman Holmes following Mr. Fleming's remarks. Carew Martin asked what security there was for Victoria in connection with its cold storage plant investment. The answer came back tartly: "None," said Alderman Holmes. He pointed out, however, that the other investors putting up $700,000, who took a chance of losing the whole amount. It was not likely that they would take risks, he said.

ALDERMAN'S OPPOSITION

Alderman Mara, the only man on the council to oppose the motion picture, and cold storage by-laws spoke against both of these projects. The cold storage plant was unsound from a business standpoint, he said. The fish vessels caught off Vancouver Island's coast were bought in open market at sea by carriers and sold at a profit. Alderman Mara wanted to know what towns would have to be passed through the proposed plant in order to make it pay its share of the cost. That was a question, he said, which the council did not know and had not discussed, he alleged.

Victoria wanted to reduce taxation and was succeeding, but great care was shown in handling situations of this kind where greater indebtedness might be discovered, he asserted.

Alderman Holmes answered Alderman Mara briefly. The discussion which followed waxed hot on occasions and lasted until a late hour.

OLD RESIDENT OF SALT SPRING PASSES

J. C. Scovell Cleared Large Tracts of Land at Ganges

Ganges Salt Spring Island, July 5.—The whole island mourns the passing of one of its best loved and esteemed citizens in the death this morning, at 3:15 o'clock, of John Cameron Scovell, who passed away after a lengthy illness in the sixty-fourth year of his age.

A native of Dalkey, County Dublin, Ireland, and the son of the late Mr. Ireland, Scovell came to Salt Spring in 1889, having previously farmed in places in Virginia, Idaho and Manitoba.

Settling at Ganges Harbor, he cleared large tracts of land, including the site of the Harbor Hotel estate. He was highly esteemed in the district and was an active leader in everything which pertained to the welfare of the community.

He was a member of the Union Club, Victoria, and a golf enthusiast. He is survived by a sister and other relatives. The funeral will take place on Thursday at 2:30 o'clock, at St. Mark's Church.

PENSION DEMANDS SWAMP OFFICIALS; PLAN IS DELAYED

Law Not Likely to go Into Effect For Some Months Yet; Many Points Unsettled

Hundreds of People Ask For Allowances; Municipalities' Share of Cost Uncertain

So many administrative problems face Provincial Government officials in the introduction of old-age pensions that all hope of putting pensions into effect under the new federal law before the end of the summer has been abandoned. It will be closed to the end of the year before the new system will be under way in British Columbia. It is thought at the Parliament Buildings. It is possible, however, that a few pensions may be paid some time in the fall after the present deluge of applications has been sorted out.

While officials expected to have the system working by midsummer they found when they commenced to arrange details of the scheme that the pension law involved an appalling array of administrative details.

POINTS UNSETTLED

The law itself is so broad and general in its provisions that the provincial authorities will have to decide for themselves on many of the qualifications of pensions and other similar matters. The precise method of financing the scheme, too, is a question which will require much thought before a decision is reached. The municipalities' place in the scheme, for instance, is a thorny point. If the Government is to pay pensions to thousands of civic institutions should this money be deducted from provincial grants to municipalities? This is one of the chief questions to be settled and there are others of a similar nature.

MANY APPLICATIONS

Meanwhile hundreds of British Columbians are applying for pensions and all are applying for them before the law is in effect. The Board, which will administer the law, the board will be fairly swamped with these applications and they can be sorted out, according to the provincial requirements there is no way of estimating the cost of the scheme.

Attempts to make an estimate have been abandoned by Finance Department officials after talking the matter over with the board and it is not expected that any large amount will come out of the current budget for pension payments. In the next budget, however, the province may expect to pay perhaps as much as $500,000 for pensions but against this it will be able to save considerable amounts by the support of aged people in provincial homes. The Federal Government will contribute to the upkeep of these people, if they fulfill the pension law requirements. How many will be in that class is not known yet.

Meanwhile final arrangements are being made between the Dominion and the Province regarding the scheme officially into effect under a formal agreement. The terms of this agreement have been arranged and only formalities remain to be settled. But it will be some time yet before monthly pension checks are placed in the outgoing mail of the Finance Department.

GOOD HAY CROPS IN METCROSHIN DISTRICT

Metcoshin, July 6.—Splendid hay crops are reported throughout the Metcoshin district, the yield being practically 25 per cent above the average for the past few years. Pastures are in excellent condition and grain crops give promise of a bumper harvest. While the weather may not be ideal for campers and holiday makers, it is certainly satisfactory to the farmers and root crops have benefited considerably by the moisture conserved in the land through the absence of the hot, dry season usually experienced at this time of the year in this locality. Strawberry crops are well above the average, as in most districts this year, and bush fruits also give promise of record yields, though some tree fruits will be short on account of the late frosts. On the whole the farmers are well satisfied and the spirit of optimism is evident throughout the whole district.

This year again, strong complaints have been made regarding the damage to grain crops by band-tail pigeons and this matter has been taken up by the advisory board of Farmers' Institutes. It is understood that the Minister of Agriculture will make strong representations to Ottawa to have that portion of the treaty with the United States which protects these birds cancelled on its expiry in 1928, as it is pointed out that the bird in question is of no known value, being neither insectivorous nor of any particular food value. Permits may be secured to shoot these pigeons when found doing damage to crops, but strong protests are being made regarding the existing nature of the questionnaire accompanying the application for a permit, it being the general opinion that agriculturists should not be hampered by useless regulations. It is felt that the present regulations, which protect game at the expense of the farmer, are burdensome enough without added impositions.

VANCOUVER WOMEN TO SECURE BEER PRIVILEGE AGAIN?

Liquor Board Knows Nothing of Plan Reported; Move Would be Serious

If one Vancouver beer parlor operator commences to serve beer to women, as reported recently, the entire arrangement by which women have been barred from beer privileges is likely to collapse almost instantly. Liquor Board officials believe. So far as they have been able to find, however, there is no immediate prospect of the movement starting. No intimation that any beer licensee intends to depart from the present system has reached the Liquor Board, although the matter has been investigated, it was stated.

The board, it was explained, has no power to prevent any licensee from selling liquor to women or to any other class of people. The present system is the result of an arrangement between the licensees themselves but it has the strong unofficial support of the Liquor Board. To Liquor Commissioner Hugh Davidson is due most of the credit for bringing the arrangement into effect.

WOULD BE GENERAL

Thus while the board is anxious to see the system maintained it has no power to prevent its collapse, if the licensees are not prepared to keep it in force. If any of the beer parlor operators decide to go back to the old system of indiscriminate sale there can be no doubt that almost all parlors would do so, too.

Such a move, it is feared, would lead to the return of former conditions, which were considered so unsatisfactory that licensees generally were glad to put their establishments on a better basis. If abuses developed the board would be in a position to curb them by suspension or cancellation of licenses. Recent legal decisions show that the board has complete power to take such action without showing cause for it.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR JUNIOR CHAMBERS

Much They Can Accomplish, Beatty Tells Local President

Enthusiasm and energy of young men is a great help in Chamber of Commerce work, E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, writes in a letter to Archie Muir, president of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"I am advised that there has recently been formed a Young Men's section of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, along somewhat similar lines to those which have been followed by the Winnipeg Board of Trade and I think the Toronto Board of Trade as well."

"I think you may have taken a very wise course. I am a great believer in extending these movements to the young men of the city."

"It is understood that the Minister of Agriculture will make strong representations to Ottawa to have that portion of the treaty with the United States which protects these birds cancelled on

HUNDREDS IN VICTORIA NOW PRAISE "HUSKY" TREATMENT

Wonderful Herb Preparation, Distributed by the MacFarlane Drug Company, Is Lauded Because It Really Does the Work.

Suffering Is Leaving and Health and Strength Are Appearing for "Husky" Users

Day by day, in every way, the hundreds of people in Victoria who are taking the "Husky" treatment are feeling better and better. Men, women and children alike, of every age and walk of life, are securing relief from stomach, liver, kidney and bowel ailments as well as headaches, dizzy spells, indigestion, gas and sour stomach, constipation, rheumatic pains, nervousness, unsound sleep and weak, tired feelings. These hundreds tell of their relief as they no longer form the MacFarlane Drug Company, exclusive "Husky" headquarters, to procure an additional supply of this medicine.

MR. HUNTER SPEAKS

An interesting case which illustrates the fine work "Husky" is doing for sufferers is that of Mr. Daniel Hunter, 336 Queen Street, Winnipeg, Manitoba, who tells as follows of his experience: "My health had been in an affected condition for two years. About a year ago I suffered a paralytic stroke that left my right side in a badly affected condition. My right hand was practically stiff and useless. I also suffered severely from stomach trouble, indigestion and gas forming on my stomach. I would lie awake half the night suffering this misery."

"Thanks to 'Husky,' I am now feeling like an almost new person. The stomach trouble has been relieved and no longer I suffer from indigestion. I no longer form on my stomach and bloated feelings are things of the past. I can now sleep throughout the night and I honestly believe that this medicine is also aiding a lot in giving relief to my right side and hand. In men who, in ordinary course, would not take such a prominent part in boards of trade, the personnel of which consists largely of older men. It is extremely important, not only from the standpoint of the interests of your city and its commercial activities, but in the interests of the young men themselves, that they should participate to the fullest extent in all matters which affect the general membership. Their enthusiasm and their energy is of great help, and the results to them more than warrant the personal effort which is necessary. I have met these sections of other chambers of commerce, and they are becoming a very great influence."

"With your Young Men's section the greatest possible success, and I feel confident that you will be amply rewarded by the benefit which the city and the Chamber of Commerce will secure through your organization."

To Find out if you need Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.—A study of these symptoms will enable you to decide.

This blood and nerve-restorative was devised for use in two great classes of diseases, one of which usually develops from the other—Anemia or bloodlessness and Nervousness. If the blood is thin and watery, as is indicated by pallor of the lips, eyelids and gums, or if you are afflicted by some form of nervous trouble, you will find in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food the most certain means of relief and restoration. Some of the symptoms and ailments which come under this heading are:

Thin blood, sallow complexion, poor eyes, eyelids and gums, tired feelings, loss of energy and ambition, tendency to fear and anxiety, loss of breath and easily fatigued, weak heart action, loss of flesh and weight, constipation, nervous prostration, nervous headache, indigestion, sleeplessness, irritability, nervousness, twitching of nerves and muscles, nervousness to sound and light, gloomy forebodings, loss of memory, inability to concentrate the mind.

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD is easily the greatest of restoratives. By forming new red corpuscles in the blood this food treatment nourishes the starved and depleted nervous system and restores the health and vigor. Try it when you are run down and out of sorts. It will restore vigor and energy and make you feel that life is worth living.
